

Say Nasser Is 'Cool' To U. S. Peace Plan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Egypt's semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram reported today that President Gamal Abdel Nasser's response to the new U.S. proposal for a Middle East peace negotiations reiterates his long-standing demand for Israeli withdrawal from all occupied territories and the preservation of the rights of the Palestinian refugees.

The newspaper said the Egyptian reply was being delivered today to Donald C. Bergus, the senior American diplomat in Cairo. The message says Egypt "seeks peace and refuses to surrender," Al Ahram reported.

Al Ahram reported earlier that the United States proposed a limited cease-fire between Egypt and Israel of at least three months and suggested that Egypt, Jordan and Israel find out from U.N. mediator Gunnar Jarring what steps would be necessary to implement the 1967 Security Council resolution calling for a peace settlement.

The paper did not say what Egypt's response to these proposals was.

"Egypt insisted—as it always has—that complete Israeli withdrawal and preservation of Palestinian rights are basic demands for any political solution to the Mideast crisis," Al Ahram said.

In Tel Aviv, meanwhile, the Israeli military command denied an Egyptian claim that 20,000 Americans are serving in the Israeli army. It said some Jews born in America are in its army but they are Israeli citizens.

Other sources placed the number at about 300.

Mohammed Hassanein Heikal, Egypt's information minister, made the claim in a television interview in which he also said the Egyptians had captured an American flying for the Israeli air force. That, too, was denied by the Israelis.

The Egyptian government said the pilot's name was Menahem Eini, a common Oriental Jewish name. The Israeli government refused to give any information about him, in line with its policy of no publicity for its airmen, and said it did not know whether he was an immigrant from the United States who still had dual nationality. But an army spokesman commented: "There are no American nationals in our air force, and with a name like Eini, I doubt very much whether he is American."

Israeli spokesmen pointed out that similar Arab claims have preceded past increases in Russian aid to the Arab forces.

The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda said, meanwhile, that claims of a Soviet threat to Israel are groundless. Igor Belyayev, Pravda's Middle East expert, wrote that the Supreme Soviet—the Soviet parlia-

Arabs Hijack Jetliner

ATHENS (AP) — Arab commandos seized a Greek jetliner and held its occupants hostage at Athens airport today for more than seven hours. Then the plane took off after all of the 53 passengers, except six commandos, were released.

An Olympic Airways spokesman said one of the plane's eight crewmen was also allowed off.

The spokesman said Aristotle Onassis, owner of Olympic Airways and husband of the former Jacqueline Kennedy, had made an unsuccessful offer to turn himself over to the hijackers, five men and a woman, as a hostage.

A representative of the International Red Cross accompanied the commandos back to Beirut, the Olympic spokesman said, apparently to continue negotiations with the hijackers.

One airport source said the Greek government offered to release the seven Arabs being held in Greece, but told the hijackers it would take two or three weeks.

The source said the commandos then demanded hostages to take back to Beirut with them as a guarantee.

When the airliner arrived earlier from Beirut the commandos armed with machine guns and grenades demanded the release of seven Arabs, either convicted of terrorist acts or awaiting trial.

Two of the commandos whose release was demanded are Jordanians scheduled to go on trial here Friday for a terrorist bombing in which a Greek child was killed.

After landing, they gave Greek authorities a three-hour deadline, threatening to blow up the Olympic Airways Boeing 727 if the demand was not met.

It wasn't, but the commandos extended the deadline another three hours while negotiations continued with Greek vice premier Stylianos Pattakos in the control tower.

Becky's Tornado Hits Town

PANACEA, Fla. (AP) — A tornado spawned by tropical storm Becky churned ashore on Levy Bay today and destroyed one home and damaged at least five others before winding down in a pine forest a mile and a half inland.

The 21-year-old frame cottage owned by L. E. Maxwell, an Albany, Ga., machine shop owner, was lifted from its foundation and shoved 75 feet inland before crashing to a stop against a pine tree.

No injuries were reported. Maxwell and his family, who use the cottage on weekends, were at Albany at the time.

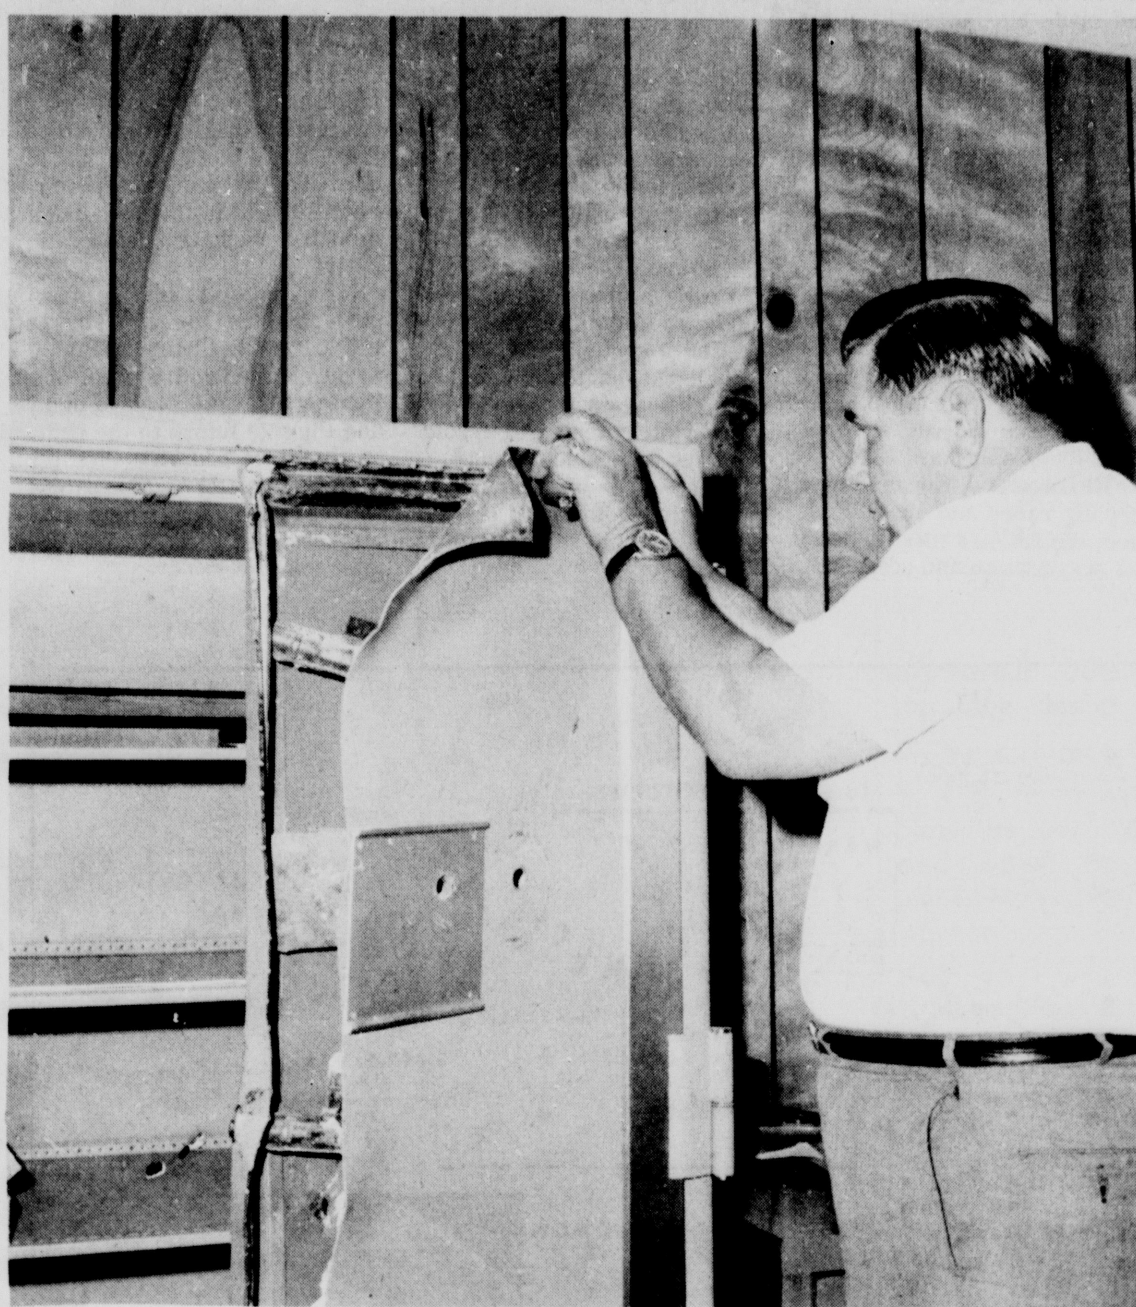

The tornado twisted the tops off of pines in a 200-foot swath it cut before crossing Highway 98 and dissipating a short distance farther on.

Once a hurricane, Becky lost much of her punch over the Gulf during the night. But as the eye crossed deserted beaches near Port St. Joe, she buffeted the area with 50-mile an hour gales.

Rainfall up to eight inches was expected as the storm sloshed across the Panhandle into southwest Georgia and possible isolated tornadoes were forecast between Panama City and St. Marks.

With Hurricane Camille's mangling of the Mississippi coast last year still fresh in memory, thousands of tourists had fled the Panhandle resorts and many residents had moved into storm shelters.

They began trickling back early today with news that Becky had weakened and was no longer a hurricane.

Seeks Clues

Blast Pepsi Safe

Safecrackers went to a great deal of trouble, and caused considerable damage, without getting a cent for their efforts sometime early Wednesday at the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co. plant on West Broadway.

Sedalia police received a call at 6:41 a.m. that a five-foot storage safe had been "peeled" and broken into.

Detective Sgt. Perry Franklin and Officer Edward Laird, who investigated, said they obtained several fingerprints and other clues, but could find no sign of forced entry to the building.

According to W. C. Ream, Pepsi plant manager, the only item of value in the safe was a roll of six-cent stamps worth $30 — and it was left in the safe.

The safe contained old records, other papers and several blank checks.

According to police, a door on the east side of the building was found open by a Pepsi employee earlier in the morning. When Ream arrived, it was discovered that two doors inside the building had been forced open — one of them leading to the room which contains the safe.

The safe was pried open after an outer layer of metal had been peeled off.

The inner layer of concrete in the door was also shattered in order to remove the lock mechanism.

"I'd say it was someone who had experience," Police Chief Miller said in reference to the incident. "It leads us to believe that it was someone from out of town. We are checking one very good lead now," he added.

Whoever opened the safe, according to Miller, was "apparently locked inside the plant when it closed" late Tuesday night.

An area in which the company keeps its cash and accounts receivable was not touched, according to Ream.

SAIGON (AP) — American fighter-bombers attacked anti-aircraft guns 65 miles inside North Vietnam Tuesday after the North Vietnamese fired on an unarmed U.S. reconnaissance jet, the U.S. Command announced today.

It was the first American attack on North Vietnam reported in nearly a month.

A spokesman said neither the Air Force RF4 reconnaissance phantom nor its two escorting Phantoms which made the attack were hit. Damage to the North Vietnamese gun positions was not known, the spokesman added.

Elsewhere in the war, Cambodian forces battled a new attack on the highway between Phnom Penh and the country's only oil refinery, the U.S. Command announced the loss of five more helicopters to enemy ground fire including one in Laos and four in South Vietnam, and the North Vietnamese stepped up attacks in the northern quarter of South Vietnam.

Ten Americans were reported killed and 56 wounded during the past 24 hours, one of the heaviest 24-hour American tolls in recent months.

In the biggest action in South Vietnam, one American paratrooper was killed and 25 wounded in an 80-round North Vietnamese mortar barrage and infantry attack on a 101st Airborne Division position between Hue and the Laotian border.

Two helicopters were shot down, one trying to land reinforcements and the second attempting to rescue the wounded crewmen from the first. Six crewmen were wounded. Eight enemy were known dead in the daylight fight Tuesday.

In Cambodia, the enemy attack on a large garrison protecting Highway 4 southwest of Phnom Penh isolated the defenders of the Kiri Rom plateau as well as threatened the capital's oil supplies from the coast. Supplies were being airdropped to the forces at Kiri Rom. 50 miles southwest of the capital.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops also made a heavy assault on one of Cambodia's biggest recruit training centers, at Romeas, 60 miles northwest of Phnom Penh. As the fighting continued there, Cambodian air force planes bombed and strafed the attacking troops and mortar positions that fired 82mm shells into the camp.

Korean Parley Ending

HONOLULU (AP) — U.S. and South Korean delegates enter the second and final day of defense talks today centering on American plans to withdraw 20,000 troops from the Asian republic.

Top U.S. defense officials said on the eve of the talks that the troop withdrawal was nonnegotiable.

South Korean Defense Minister Jung Nae Hiuk, the leading Korean negotiator, has said he is sure Premier Chung Il-Kwon will carry through with a threat that he and his entire Cabinet will resign if the withdrawals are made.

Only general information was released about the first day's three-hour meeting. The only questions a spokesman would answer were on how long the session lasted and the number of persons taking part.

However, diplomatic sources said it was understood that hard-line issues would not be taken up at the first meeting. A communique was expected late today at the conclusion of the talks.

U.S. sources said the Americans, led by Deputy Secretary of Defense David Packard, assured the Koreans that the United States is "well aware of provocation and threats to the national security which the Republic of Korea endures."

The troop withdrawal plan calls for nearly a one-third reduction of the 62,800 U.S. troops. The United States plans to compensate for the cut with a massive upgrading of South Korea's war arsenal.

U.S. defense officials say North Korea does not have the present capability to launch an invasion of the South such as the June 1950 attack which scattered the South Korean army.

But Chung said recently that in 1969 the North Koreans increased their army by 60,000 men and received 300 tanks and 150 warplanes from the Russians, bringing their air force to 900 planes. North Korea is believed to have more than 400,000 men under arms.

Penn Central's Trustees Named

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A federal judge named today four trustees to run the financially troubled Penn Central Railroad while it is being reorganized under bankruptcy laws. One of them is former Secretary of Labor W. William Willard.

The others selected by U.S. District Court Judge John P. Fullam were:

—George Pierce Baker, former dean of the Harvard Law School.

—Jervis Langdon Jr., chairman and president of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad.

—Richard C. Bond of Philadelphia, chairman of the board of John Wanamaker department stores.

The judges selections must be approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission. It is expected to concur.

Fullam said that he hopes that the four trustees will be able to speedily bring the Penn Central back "on a sound, profitable basis."

Ralph Nader, the consumer advocate, had urged appointment of at least one trustee who would give priority concern to the public interest, protecting shippers and passengers.

The reorganization, involving passenger and freight operations on Penn Central's 42,731 miles of track in 14 states and two Canadian provinces, could last a decade or longer.

Up to now, under the petition to reorganize filed June 21, the Penn Central had been rolling along with the old management, headed by Paul C. Gorman, at the throttle.

On Tuesday there was fresh evidence of financial distress when the Interstate Commerce Commission disclosed the line had sought permission to drop immediately 24 of 34 passenger trains operating west of Albany, N.Y., and Harrisburg, Pa.

Penn Central officials said they would not be able to meet current bills if required to keep all of the western passenger trains in operation. Penn Central's payroll is $20 million weekly.

In March, the railroad had petitioned the ICC to drop all 34 trains, but was required to keep them running while the ICC investigated.

Gorman, whose salary is $250,000 a year, will still run the Penn Central Co., of which the Penn Central Transportation Co. is the railroad subsidiary.

The transportation giant was created 29 months ago by joining the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads in the largest rail merger in history.

Stuart T. Saunders, then head of the Pennsy who became chairman of the combined giant, was fired last June.

Approve Limit On Crop Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Agriculture Committee approved today a $55,000 per crop payment limitation on wheat, feed grain and cotton as part of a three-year farm subsidy program.

There is no limit on the amount of subsidy payments a producer can get under the present farm law, enacted in 1965.

The payment limitation was approved by voice vote.

The panel then stamped its final okay, 27-6, on the over-all farm bill draft it had given tentative approval to on Tuesday. The farm bill applies to dairy, wool, wheat, feed grain and cotton.

The committee gave tentative approval Tuesday to a subsidy program for dairy, wool, wheat, feed grain and cotton producers for the 1971, 1972 and 1973 crops. The cost is estimated at more than $3 billion a year, approximately the same as for the present program.

Chairman W. R. Poage, D-Tex., an opponent of subsidy ceilings, said he is accepting them now because he realizes a farm bill cannot be passed without them.

The panel refused Tuesday to impose a $10,000 or $20,000 limit on subsidies received for cotton, wheat and feed grains.

Newton Still Guides Black Panthers From Behind Prison Bars

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (AP) — From behind the 14-foot fences and steel bars of a state prison, Huey P. Newton guides the militant Black Panther party toward what he envisions as a revolution within his lifetime.

"I decide the final policy on everything in the party," said Newton, Panther co-founder and minister of defense. "I communicate with the party through visits by my family."

The smiling, soft-spoken Newton, 28, has spent the past 2½ years in prison for killing an Oakland policeman. He was sentenced to 2 to 15 years for the Oct. 28, 1967, shooting of officer John Frey.

On May 21 the California District Court of Appeal ordered a new trial on ground that the Superior Court omitted some required instructions to the jury and made other prejudicial errors.

"I'm not very optimistic," Newton said in an interview. "I have very little faith in the state machine. I don't expect justice. I'm just being realistic."

"But I am optimistic about winning the final battle because the people always win."

As the Panthers' chief theoretician, Newton said revolution has constantly occupied his mind at the California Men's Colony, a sprawling medium security prison at the foot of coastal hills near here.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover recently called the Black Panthers the nation's most dangerous organization and accused it of fomenting terrorism in cities and on campuses.

Newton commented: "The most dangerous groups to the people of the world are the Pentagon, including the CIA, the U.S. military, the local police, the avaricious businessman and the lying politicians."

"All are guilty of crimes against the people and the verdict is death."

A party poster picturing Newton on an African wicker throne bearing a shotgun and a spear has been sold nationally. But he said, "I'm against violence. I'm not a violent man. All revolutionaries are against violence."

"There's a distinction between the violence of the aggressor and the self-defense of the attacked."

"We must defend ourselves against poor housing, police brutality and all things that strip a man of his dignity."

As for the poster, he said, laughing, "I don't think the party's image has changed since then, but I hope mine has. I don't like that particular poster, because it makes me look like a monarch. We have a democratic party."

Newton said his primary goals include the freedom of Black Panther Chairman Bobby Seale, charged with murder of a Panther in New Haven, Conn., and the safe return to the United States of Eldridge Cleaver, Panther minister of information who has been a fugitive since he was declared a California parole violator.

For 45 minutes, Newton, a solid 5 foot 10 inches tall in his baggy prison blues, answered questions about the Panthers' goal of bringing about what he calls "a democratic society free of racism."

He explained that his projected revolution would create a society in which the people control the institutions, the government is a cooperative, and large privately owned corporations become public entities.

"Eventually these companies will be absolutely socialized and turned over as public enterprises," Newton said. "There will be no profit to any particular group and the people themselves will reap the benefit."

While he is proud of the Black Panther breakfast programs and clinics in some of the nation's big cities, Newton characterizes himself as a revolutionary, not a reformer, explaining: "A revolutionary wants complete change, because he's dissatisfied with a set of existing conditions. He feels they're only changed through complete revolution."

"For blacks and other minorities here a Socialist government is the only salvation because we've never gained anything from capitalism," he said.

"Nixon and his lackeys are attempting to lead blacks up a creek with the concept of black capitalism," Newton said.

"Now they're trying to dupe us into investing in a country that's already overexpanded with an inflated economy."

Eventually, internal discontent coupled with an increasing number of war fronts will weaken the United States enough for a successful revolution, he said.

"It will be a world revolution," the Panther leader declared.

"The police regime, the Pentagon, is too powerful for it to be defeated on a national level."

"All indications are that it will be a violent conflict judging from the activities of this fascist government," he added.

The Cambodian venture was a lesson in "U.S. imperialism" to a broad cross-section of the public, Newton said.

"After the murders at Kent State and Jackson State, people got involved," he said. "Before becoming a revolutionary, one has to get deeply involved."

Newton expressed doubt that white working class Americans would support his revolution.

"Many of the so-called leftist-Marxist groups feel the proletariat still carries the revolutionary potential," he said. "We doubt this because labor has a place very close to capital."

"The white radicals have a place in the revolutionary struggle, but they have factional problems in their own circles. I wish they'd stop bickering and join the fight."

While the exact Black Panther party membership is a matter for speculation, Newton acknowledges it is relatively small.

Scientists Fight The Irrelevant

LONDON (AP) — Eighty young scientists from Europe, America and Asia are demanding an end to "irrelevant" research and more emphasis on solving such problems as famine, pollution and the population explosion.

The group, in London for an international science seminar, said Tuesday that 90 per cent of the world's scientists are "wasting their time" on experiments that are unimportant and sometimes even harmful to humanity.

The scientists, most of them under 30, are members of the International Students Movement for the United Nations and another group called LASITOC—the Look At, Search In, Try Out Committee, an international scientific group active in Britain and Sweden.

Peter Harper, LASITOC's director in Britain, told a discussion session at the Imperial College of Science that he and several other delegates had dropped out of conventional and scientific research because of "growing misgivings about the role of science in altering our environment" and because he believed some current scientific methods are stockpiling trouble for the future.

Harper told the seminar earlier he quit brain biochemistry research at Sussex University because he feared his experiments on the transfer of memory cells between rats might be tried on humans later.

He and his associates said the space race also is irrelevant and possibly harmful to mankind.

They suggested:

—More intensive research to spot possibly harmful long-term side effects from such things as drugs and pesticides.

—National research organizations that would guarantee the independence of science from industry.

—More concentration on world hunger and overpopulation.

—Deeper consciousness among scientists of the moral aspects of their work.

Presidential Yachts Don't Get Prospects

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The presidential yachts Patricia and Julie went on the auction block Tuesday but there were no bidders.

"It is apparent that due to the restrictions placed on the use of the boats, the interest has waned," said Dorothy Ring, sales contracting officer at the Defense Surplus Sales Office here.

The White House specified that the boats not be used for commercial purposes. Minimum prices were set at $100,000 for the 92-foot Patricia and $65,000 for the 64-foot Julie. President Nixon is selling the boats in an economy move.

Pollution Penalty

BOWIE, Md. (AP) — The city of Bowie has adopted an ordinance prohibiting sale of soft drinks and beer in disposable containers.

'Life' Refutes Huntley

NEW YORK (AP) — Life magazine says it did not err in an interview quoting NBC newscaster Chet Huntley as saying Richard M. Nixon as president "frightens" him.

"After reading the account of what he said, Mr. Huntley may have regretted saying it," a Life spokesman said Tuesday. "But there is no question about the accuracy of what was reported."

Huntley claimed in a letter to the Bozeman, Mont., Chronicle Monday that he did not single out Nixon but said that he "worried about all presidents of the United States—whether they will stay healthy, whether they can stand the strain, their power, the decisions they make."

Huntley, who retires after his Friday appearance on NBC's "Huntley-Brinkley" program, also disowned another quote that Life attributed to him: "The shallowness of the man—President Nixon—overwhelms me."

The Life spokesman said in a statement that Huntley's denial was "surprising. Mr. Huntley was interviewed by Thomas Thompson, a writer for Life magazine, on board a flight from Tampa to New York and in his office at NBC late in June. Mr. Huntley was quite relaxed during the interview, and some of his statements were even stronger than those published in Life."

Increased Iron Could Be Harmful

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three doctors say that tripling the amount of iron in bread could harm more people than it helps.

The Food and Drug Administration recently proposed such an increase to combat iron deficiency. The baking industry, American Medical Association and American Dietetic Association support the proposal.

But two Boston medical professors and an upstate New York general practitioner have challenged the proposal in letters to the FDA that raise the issue of tolerance to iron.

The doctors, the only ones on record against the proposal, say there is no firm medical evidence to confirm that iron deficiency is a major health problem.

Nor is there enough evidence to satisfy them that adult men, who use less iron than women and children, will not be harmed by consuming much larger quantities of iron in their bread, the opponents say.

Dr. Philip L. White, secretary of the American Medical Association's council on food and nutrition, has called iron deficiency anemia and the resultant fatigue and low resistance to disease "one of the major nutritional problems of teenage girls, and indeed adult women as well."

In a 1965 survey, the U.S. Department of Agriculture found that 25 per cent of boys 12 to 14, and 38 per cent of women and girls 9 to 54 received less than recommended allowances of iron. The survey showed shortages were more severe among the poor.

But the opponents of the bread enrichment proposal note that iron shortage is not the same as anemia. They question whether the often undetectable evidence of iron shortage justifies increasing iron in bread.

One opponent, Dr. William H. Crosby, a professor of medicine and chief of blood studies at New England Medical Center Hospitals, said doctors agree that the body does a poor job of working off excess iron. The mineral concentrates in the liver and other glands, possibly leading to glandular failure, he said.

The recommended minimum daily requirement for menstruating women is 7 to 20 milligrams. For men the requirement is 5 to 10 milligrams.

The FDA proposal would allow between 50 and 60 milligrams of iron in a one-pound loaf of enriched white bread. The present allowable level is 13 to 16.5 milligrams. Similar changes are proposed for flour.

Although the American Medical Association submitted little evidence on the tolerance issue, it estimated the proposal would raise the amount of iron consumed by men to what it called a maximum and safe level of 30 milligrams per day.

But Crosby said, "Even 30 milligrams of iron per day may be a source of danger to the average male."

The validity of the 30 milligram estimate also is challenged by Crosby and his fellow dissidents—Dr. Margaret Ann Krikker, an Albany, N.Y., general practitioner whose husband has a liver disease aggravated by excess iron; and Dr. Frederick Stohman Jr., director of medicine and research at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Boston.

They suggest the 1965 Agriculture Department study, from which the figure was extrapolated, was too limited.

Mrs. Krikker warned that the proposal also fails to take into account the fact that different people absorb iron in different amounts and at different rates.

Value Luce Estate

NEW YORK (AP) — The estate of Henry R. Luce, who headed the Time-Life magazine empire, was estimated at $103,014,000 in a court petition for approval of estimated estate taxes.

The petition Tuesday estimated New York State taxes at $2,423,000 and said $7,915,000 in federal estate taxes had been paid.

Ann Landers

Communication Is Superior To Grammar

Dear Ann Landers: I was fascinated by the letter from the former teacher who expressed concern over the daily slaughter of the English language. Her kind turns kids off and makes them hate English. I'm glad she's not teaching anymore.

Of course grammar is important, but it's not the be-all and end-all. Any exciting, original composition with grammatical errors will get a better grade from me than a dull, unimaginative, mechanically perfect composition. Teachers who are hipped on grammar stifle creative excitement. Give me a bright, imaginative student and I can teach him grammar. Spare me the student who can turn out an errorless essay but doesn't have an original idea in his head. I can teach him nothing. —Detroit Teacher

Dear Teacher: As one who has split countless infinitives and dangled many a participle, I applaud your point of view. A person who has nothing to say, and conveys it in flawless English, still says nothing.

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from the former English teacher who offered a free lesson on correct usage of such words as "bad" and "badly." She asked, "Where are today's English teachers? Don't they teach grammar anymore?"

As an English teacher who is still teaching grammar I would like to inform the writer that there is no such word as "anymore" in Webster's dictionary. She should have asked, "Do they no longer teach grammar?" — R.L. of Hollywood

Dear R.L.: Please look on page 97 of Webster's Third New International Dictionary. You will find the word "anymore." (Do they no longer check current references to determine what words are part of the language?)

Dear Ann Landers: Our family doctor, who has a lovely wife and four children, is having an affair with a woman who pretends to be a patient although she is healthy as a horse. It hurts me to see this wonderful man ruin his reputation and destroy his family with such foolishness. A few weeks ago I became so upset I called his receptionist and asked her to inform his wife. Apparently the girl didn't take my advice because the doctor is still carrying on with the woman. She goes to his office four times a week for a "checkup" and sails right past sick people who must wait for hours to be seen.

I wrote a letter to the American Medical Association but to date have received no answer. This morning I telephoned the County Medical Society and spoke with a very rude woman who said she was "too busy" to bother with such things. "TOO BUSY" — can you imagine! A doctor's reputation and family is at stake and she is too busy to bother.

Please think of something else I can do. I am sick over this. —S.O.S.

Dear S.O.S.: Get a part time job and drain off some of that excess energy. If the doctor is behaving like a jackass, he'll probably pay for his foolishness, but it is none of your business. The AMA and the County Medical Society do not become involved in such matters.

Congress Aims At Computers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has been asked to do something about those credit-billing computers which sometimes won't take the facts for an answer.

The problem, says Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., is that corporations tend to rely completely on computers to send out monthly credit statements and refuse to admit the machines make mistakes.

And once a mistake is made, Proxmire said, it is almost impossible to get the error corrected; the computer reacts with an escalating series of statements — coaxing, warning and threatening the customer about his credit rating.

Proxmire's bill requires a company to acknowledge within 10 days the receipt of a complaint that its computer has goofed. Before 60 days is up the firm would have to correct the error or explain to the consumer why there was no mistake.

"If the company failed to do both of these, it would forfeit the right to collect the amount the consumer claimed to be in error," Proxmire explained.

The next step would be up to the consumer. If he could prove an error, he could sue for a rebate, treble punitive damages and legal fees.

And the company would be required to inform the customer of his computer rights at the time he opened an account and on each monthly bill.

Proxmire's "fair credit billing bill" also requires statements be mailed at least 21 days before payment is due to end what he calls the shrinking billing period.

"Normally creditors allow a customer 30 days from the billing date to pay the full new balance owed and thereby avoid any finance charge on the new balance," Proxmire explained.

"When creditors do not send the billing statement promptly, however, the effect is to reduce the time the customer has to pay the bill. This means an added finance charge."

Lawrence Calmer Today

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—A brief calm in this university city — scene of two gunfire deaths in less than a week—was shattered early today by an explosion near an area where there have been repeated confrontations between police and a group of youths.

The blast knocked a two-foot hole in a wall of the Credit Bureau building and shattered windows in residences more than 100 yards away. There were no injuries.

Robert Wolfe of the Kansas fire marshal's office said, "We've found fragments of a soap detergent box. We feel certain it was packed with black powder though the stuff will be analyzed."

The incident marred a "let's cool it" understanding between Kansas Highway Patrol Supt. William Abbott; George Kimball, leader of a group living at the edge of the University of Kansas campus who refer to themselves as "the street people," and a number of campus ministers, students and faculty members.

Abbott had told Kimball and the Rev. Donald Conrad, a Lutheran campus minister, Tuesday night that police would stay out of the area if all remained quiet.

The area at the north edge of the campus was the scene of a confrontation Monday night in which Harry Nicholas Rice, 18, was struck and killed by a bullet while running with a group of the "street people" from the police.

There was no official indication where the shot came from.

The confrontation marked the fourth straight night in which some students from the university, some former students and other young people sharing a hippie - style environment had brought out police and firemen by setting trash fires and creating disturbances.

Many of the youth said the activity was a protest against the fatal shooting of Donald Rick Dowdell, 19, a Negro, last Thursday night in the black community. Police said he was fleeing from officers and was shot when he stepped from a car with a gun in his hand.

Gov. Robert Docking made a surprise visit to the troubled area Tuesday.

He met with city officials after earlier issuing a proclamation of emergency which forbids the "possession, sale, carrying and use of firearms and other dangerous weapons" and restricts the sale of gasoline except for motor vehicles.

Docking also ordered 25 highway patrol troopers into Lawrence to assist police.

"We cannot and will not tolerate flagrant disregard for the laws of our state and nation," Docking said.

Kimball, running for sheriff as what he calls the Yippie candidate, was asked whether the area would be quiet if police stayed out? He said: "A week ago I would have said we would keep it quiet, but now there are two corpses laying around that haven't even been buried yet. How can I guarantee anything."

Kansas Atty. Gen. Kent Frizzell Tuesday night ordered a full - scale investigation by Kansas Bureau of Investigation agents into Rice's death. A leaflet distributed in the city and signed "Long Live The Peoples War, Lawrence Liberation front," contained this statement:

"The enemies of the people of this community may consider themselves warned that any further attacks will be met with appropriate response."

City Manager Buford Watson Jr. said the disorders were "the result of the street people taking advantage of last week's racial unrest in the city."

"Street people are those who want to end the war in Vietnam, who want peace, and social change, and they see this as a means to demonstrate," Watson said.

Deputy Base C. O. Change on Aug. 1

Mrs. W. J. Foote, 1401 South Carr, reported the theft of two gas caps, off G.M.C. trucks, to police Wednesday morning. The items were valued at $7.

Pledges Support For Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has told Republican congressional leaders he intends to stand behind his revised welfare program despite opposition from members of his own party. "It is part of his program and he wants to see it passed," Sen. Gordon Allott of Colorado, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, told newsmen Tuesday.

Nixon's comments to GOP congressional leaders came as a still-hostile Senate Finance Committee resumed hearings into sweeping reforms to replace current welfare programs with a minimum guaranteed income.

The hearings were broken off almost three months ago when the Finance Committee told former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert H. Finch to rework the program.

But Finance Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., told newsmen Tuesday that "in significant respects the new plan is a worse bill—and a more costly bill than the one which passed the House."

"In terms of money," said Long, "the revised family assistance plan's cost to the federal government is a staggering $9.1 billion-$900 million more than the administration's estimates of the cost of the bill as passed by the House and more than $4 billion over the federal cost of the existing system."

The administration plan calls for a guaranteed annual income of $1,600 for a family of four, plus food stamp, housing and medical care benefits. The $1,600 payment would be gradually reduced for working recipients until earnings reached $3,920 a year.

Long said the revised program cuts payments to some 450,000 persons in families where the father is unemployed. In 22 other states, he added welfare recipients would get less.

Long said, however, he hopes and expects the Senate to vote this year on welfare reform. Sen. Clifford Hansen of Wyoming, a Republican member of the committee who nearly always backs the administration, said Long had expressed fears shared by most other committee members.

Fires In The City

Sedalia firemen responded to a call from the Bothwell Hotel at 11:02 p.m. Tuesday. About $50 damage was done by what firemen suspect was a lighted cigarette thrown down in a storage room.

The cause of a grass fire at 7:55 a.m. Wednesday was listed as undetermined by firemen. It occurred at 421 West Third. There was no damage.

Firemen were called to the Larry Stephenson residence, 1515 Driftwood, at 8:25 a.m. Wednesday. A short circuit in an electric wall receptacle. There was no fire but slight damage occurred.

At 5:04 p.m. Tuesday firemen were called to West Broadway and the railroad tracks, where a grass fire was in progress. There was no damage.

A grass fire, probably started by a cigarette, resulted in a run by firemen at 12:22 p.m. Tuesday to 15th and Washington. There was no damage.

Accidents

Elmer Stark, 51, Kansas City, was admitted to Bothwell Hospital Tuesday afternoon after sustaining numerous injuries from a 20-foot fall.

Stark, who is employed by Stark Masonry Company, Kansas City, was working on a scaffold on a building in the 300 block of South Ohio when he fell.

According to Dr. Lawrence Hass, orthopedic surgeon who operated on Stark Tuesday evening, Stark sustained fractures to his heel, pelvis, and several spinal lumbar, an injury to the left knee, and a ruptured urethra.

Dr. Hass listed Stark as being in satisfactory condition Wednesday.

Police Court

Ronald L. Cooper, 2403 North Woodlawn, loud and unnecessary noise with a motor-vehicle, forfeited $15.

Kenneth Homer Stewart, 412 East Sixth, running a red light, forfeited $10.

Carl Buckner, 301 East Jefferson, failure to obey a police officer, was fined $15 and given a stay on the fine.

Circuit Court

John Wayne Griggs, presently serving 20 years in the state penitentiary for armed robbery, has filed a petition to vacate his sentence.

Griggs was sentenced May 28, 1968, by Pettis County Circuit Court Judge Frank W. Hayes. Griggs was tried in Pettis County following a change of venue from Cooper County.

At his trial Griggs pleaded innocent. He lost a later appeal to the Missouri Supreme Court.

In his move to vacate his sentence, Griggs states he was denied due process and a fair trial because he was accorded ineffective assistance of counsel. He also claims he was not accorded an evidentiary hearing to determine his competence to stand trial when substantial doubt existed to Griggs' ability to competently converse with his lawyer or aid with the defense.

Griggs also says his punishment was cruel and excessive in comparison to co-defendants in the trial.

Griggs' attorney during the trial was Lane Harlan of Boonville.

Larry Michael Siegel, charged with assault with intent to kill, was granted a change of venue to Benton County by Pettis County Circuit Court Judge Frank W. Hayes Tuesday.

Siegel, 27, 310 North Summit, allegedly stabbed Donald Wiseman, 119 East Seventh, during a brawl outside a bar at 16th and Grand last March 3. Wiseman had to have 200 stitches taken to close his wounds.

A trial date for Siegel will be set in Benton County Circuit Court Oct. 26. He is presently free on $3,500 bail.

A change of venue to Benton County was also granted to Garry W. Curry, 19, who is charged with rape and two counts of robbery.

Curry was arrested after he allegedly broke into two farm houses northwest of Sedalia, stealing guns, food, a horse and raping a 24-year-old housewife April 8.

Attorneys for Curry have filed an intent that they will rely on a defense of temporary insanity.

Curry's court date will also be set Oct. 26 in Benton County Circuit Court. He is being held in the Pettis County jail.

Drug Abuse Is Subject Of a Talk

Mrs. Donna Swartz

"Understanding Drug Abuse Today" will be the subject of a talk to be made at the Thursday night meeting of the Sedalia Jaycees at the Bothwell Hotel.

Mrs. Donna Swartz, information and education specialist with the Missouri Alcoholism and Drug Abuse Program of the Division of Mental Health, Jefferson City, will be the speaker.

Bob Burke, Jaycee president, said recent articles in The Democrat on the drug abuse problem in Sedalia prompted the club to invite Mrs. Swartz, who is a registered nurse. He added that her talk will hopefully be the kick-off for the local Jaycee SLANT (Student League Against Narcotics Temptation) program, designed to help youths resist drugs.

SLANT is one of several nationwide Jaycee programs aimed at youths.

Saigon Hijack Attempt

SAIGON (AP) — An American soldier tried to hijack an airliner from Saigon to Hong Kong by threatening the crew with knives today but surrendered to police after officials foiled his plan by letting the air out of the plane's tires.

The soldier tried to persuade the pilot to fly him out of the country. The only reported injury in the two-hour episode at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airport was a Korean flight engineer on the Air Vietnam plane who suffered a cut throat as he tried to escape.

Taken into custody by Vietnamese police and turned over to U.S. authorities, the soldier was identified as Army Pvt. George M. Hardin.

Officials said Hardin is 20 and his home is in St. Louis, Mo. They said he apparently had boarded the four-engine DC4 at Pleiku, in the central highlands, where he is assigned as a perimeter guard at the Army's 71st Evacuation Hospital.

The soldier finally walked off the plane with his hands in the air and surrendered.

The soldier tried to take over the plane just as it landed at Saigon, by threatening the pilot, copilot and flight engineer with the two knives.

He allowed the other 63 passengers, a steward and a stewardess to leave the plane after it came to a stop but held the crew hostage.

Witnesses said the American gave up when the crewmen refused to make the trip. One report said he suffered a cut thumb during the incident but there were no serious injuries.

Vietnamese security police and American Military Police cordoned off the area outside the Tan Son Nhut civilian terminal while the crewmen tried to talk the man out of his plan.

It was the second time that a hijack attempt was made on large aircraft during the Vietnam war. The other incident occurred near Da Nang more than a year ago.

Building Pace Shows Decline Over '69 Rate

The number of building permits issued by building inspector Woodrow Garrison during the second quarter of the year lags behind the same period in 1969, Garrison's report showed Wednesday.

The April through June period showed the issuance of 60 permits, Garrison said, with a total of $714 collected in fees for the permits. The office took in $726 the same period last year.

The estimated cost of construction during the time covered in the report came to $631,765, and reflects the decrease. Last year's construction estimate for the three months came to $634,372.

Garrison's office issued 13 building permits for new homes; 16 for commercial buildings and additions; four for industrial buildings and additions; one for apartments, and 23 for residential additions and miscellaneous construction.

Edde Explains Food Program To Optimists

Activities of the Pettis County commodities foods program were explained to the Noon Optimist Club at its Tuesday meeting at Bothwell Hotel.

The main speaker was Perry Edde, director of the no-cost program, who explained the type of commodities given out and the method of distribution.

Edde said 2,055 people in Pettis County had taken advantage of the food program during July. The figure represents 729 families, he said.

Edde was introduced by J.C. Patton, program chairman.

Ab Ball, president, presided. The invocation was given by Lee Deason.

Governors To Argue Cutbacks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The federal cutback in funds for interstate highway construction was to come under attack here today as the Midwestern Governors Conference ended its ninth annual session.

A resolution asking Congress to restore the original $4.9 billion in federal matching funds for highway construction for the current fiscal year was introduced Tuesday by Gov. Arch Moore Jr. of West Virginia.

The resolution was masterminded by Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes. He said the cutback would cost Ohio 4,500 jobs and seriously stall several interstate highway projects.

The resolution is expected to sail through to easy passage. Nearly all of the 13 governors attending the conference have voiced objections over what one called "bureaucratic cutbacks in congressionally allocated funds."

Two other resolutions, both of them introduced by Michigan Gov. William G. Milliken, also were to be voted upon in the final session.

One would call for the establishment of a national clearing house where all chemical compounds released into the environment would have to be registered by companies. It would also require pre-screening of each chemical as to its ecological effects prior to being put into use.

Milliken's second resolution will ask the states to form a compact so they can have a voice in thermal pollution policies and decisions of the federal government.

During Tuesday's session, Donald Rumsfeld, director of the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity, took a verbal lashing from Rhodes and Gov. Louis B. Nunn of Kentucky, who ridiculed the federal government's anti-poverty operations.

Gov. Warren Hearnes of Missouri charged the agency provides legal services to people who would overthrow the government.

ment—had stated that "every state in the Middle East has the right to independent national existence."

Belyayev said Israel's allegations about the Soviet presence in the Middle East were made to support its demands for more arms from the United States.

The Israeli Embassy in Washington countered with a statement saying the Soviet Union and the Arab states are giving Israel an ultimatum: accept Arab-Soviet demands or face direct Russian intervention.

Elsewhere in the Middle East:

The Libyan government announced seizure of properties and real estate holdings of all Italians in the former Italian colony. The head of the Libyan government, Col. Muammar Kadafi, said the Italians had acquired their holdings as the result of colonization, and "the Libyan people suffered immeasurable damage under Italian rule." But he assured the Italian community, estimated to number about 12,000, "we shall not allow any violence against them."

Kadafi also said his government is confiscating real estate of 600 absentee Libyan Jews whose properties have been under government custody since 1961.

The government council said owners will be compensated with government bonds payable over 15 years.

The chief of staff for the U.N. Truce Supervisory Organization in Palestine, Lt. Gen. Odd Bull of Norway, resigned effective Aug. 1. He will be succeeded by his deputy, Maj. Gen. E.P.H. Silasvuo, 48, a Finn.

U.N. Secretary-General U Thant said Bull was leaving "for personal reasons and at his own request." He has had the job for seven years.

Lebanon's right-wing Falange party nominated its leader, Pierre Gemayel, as its candidate to succeed President Charles Helou in September.

Chamber's Directors Convene

Chamber of Commerce executive manager Chuck Lawrence reported on his recent attendance at the Institute of Organizational Management held at the University of Colorado, Boulder, at the regular monthly meeting Tuesday of the Chamber board of directors.

Lawrence gave a resume of his activities and the classes, which included economics, public relations, and the Chamber of Commerce's role in government. Lawrence stressed the need for the Chamber to become involved in government.

He also announced four new members: James T. Buckley, attorney; Filter Queen, John Williams owner; Ralph Jones Studio, and J. D. Schlobohm, American Family Insurance.

John Pelham reported on the military affairs committee's activities, including the recent trip to Whiteman Air Force Base.

Membership chairman Jim Edwards encouraged the membership teams to continue their good work. He stated that there are several people to contact.

Jim Mathewson, public relations chairman, announced that the Senior Babe Ruth Central Section Tournament would be held in Sedalia, July 31-Aug. 4. Twelve state teams will be involved, and the Chamber has agreed to try and find housing for the boys.

The boys will be placed two to a home and will be transported to and from the homes by people working with the tournament. Hosts will only be expected to provide breakfast meals. Persons interested in housing boys are asked to call the Chamber office.

The Chamber board also renewed the one-year contract of Lawrence and Mrs. Vivian Warren, secretary. Louis Hughes, president of the Chamber, expressed the board's appreciation to the two, and cited Lawrence for his "enthusiasm" and the "change of image" of the Chamber and Mrs. Warren for her "loyalty" to the Chamber.

Consumer Boycott Possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — A consumer watchdog group has threatened to lead a boycott against famous-name companies such as Coca-Cola unless the firms act immediately to improve the working and living conditions of migrant farm laborers.

Philip W. Moore, counsel to Ralph Nader's Project on Corporate Responsibility, accused the soft drink firm of exploiting Mexican-Americans in testimony Tuesday before the Senate migratory labor subcommittee.

Whether the boycott will be put into effect, he added, will depend on the firm's testimony before the same panel later this week. Moore said he thought "Coca-Cola wants to do something to avoid this problem."

Moore pointed to what he said was substandard housing Coca-Cola's Minute Maid subsidiary maintained for its workers in Florida citrus fields as examples of "this problem."

The subcommittee, headed by Minnesota Democrat Walter F. Mondale, has invited Coca-Cola representatives to testify when the hearings resume Friday.

Mondale noted Moore's testimony was the first about the intricacies of corporate ownership of the fields that often isolates migrants at the bottom of society.

When talking about human exploitation, however, Mondale said the exploiters must be exposed and the situation must be corrected.

Nuclear Power Industry Watches Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two California scientists who say federal standards allow people too much exposure to radiation are locked in a bitter, name-calling battle with the Atomic Energy Commission while the nuclear power industry watches uneasily.

Radiation exposure limits are ten times too high, say Drs. John Gofman and Arthur T. Tamplin of the AEC-financed Lawrence Radiation Laboratory in Livermore, Calif. They have more support in the scientific community than the AEC likes to admit.

Gofman and Tamplin say if every American got the maximum permissible dose of radiation, cancer deaths would increase by 32,000 a year.

Unfounded and incorrect, says the AEC. The maximum dose is so small it's impossible to single out any harmful effects it might have, contend AEC scientists.

"These people ask you to produce human corpses," says Gofman of the AEC. "No corpses, no action."

"This is the third time Gofman's taken off on a wild tangent," responds Dr. John Totter, head of the AEC's division of biology and medicine.

Totter dismisses Tamplin, who came up with the 32,000 figure, as "a biophysicist with no experimental background in biology... It's very common for physical scientists to make mistakes in biology."

But Gofman and Tamplin have support from scientists including Joshua Lederberg, winner of a Nobel Prize in Medicine; Linus Pauling, only man ever to win two Nobel Prizes; Dr. E. B. Lewis, expert on the effects of low doses of radiation, and Dr. Karl Z. Morgan, director of the health physics division of Oak Ridge National Laboratory and a member of the National Council on Radiation Protection.

Watching this debate from the sidelines with a multibillion-dollar interest is the power industry with its 17 nuclear plants now generating electricity, 47 under construction and 48 more proposed.

What role should the AEC, as both regulator and promoter of atomic energy, play in such controversies?

The Gofman and Tamplin controversy started in 1969, when Tamplin was asked by the AEC to examine claims by Dr. E. J. Sternglass, director of radiology at the University of Pittsburgh, that fallout had caused 400,000 prenatal or infant deaths.

Tamplin said he determined that Sternglass was way off in his estimate. Tamplin came up with the figure of 32,000 deaths and then wrote a rebuttal to Sternglass' findings in which he included his own calculations.

Totter telephoned Gofman and Tamplin Aug. 13 and said he thought Tamplin's rebuttal of Sternglass' findings was just fine. But he saw no reason for including Tamplin's own calculations in the same article, Gofman and Tamplin disagreed.

From then on the debate became more heated.

Proponents of the AEC position that the radiation standards were more than adequate fanned out to give their views.

Dr. William Bibb, a biologist at AEC headquarters in Germantown, Md., and frequent pro-AEC speaker, said, "The public is scared of radiation and anyone who reinforces their fears is going to get a damn solid audience."

Gofman and Tamplin were getting a solid and widespread audience.

But the reins began to tighten. Early in May, Tamplin was notified he was being charged vacation time for days spent in March and April at a conference at the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions, a session of the American Cancer Society and an environmental teach-in for members of Congress and science writers.

His appeal was denied on the grounds that "in all cases the trip and your involvement in the meeting was beyond the scope of your laboratory assignment."

Soon after the start of the new fiscal year July 1, Gofman complained he had lost two people from his 12-member staff.

Tamplin's staff of 12 was cut to one research assistant.

The AEC responded that the staff reductions were part of budget cuts forcing elimination of 4,000 lab jobs.

The AEC is locked in the radiation standards battle even though all today's nuclear plants operate well within the stricter standard proposed by Gofman and Tamplin.

Why doesn't the AEC adopt the more rigid standard which apparently would change nothing?

"We think it would be just as wrong for us to arbitrarily lower the standards that have been set by experts not only in this country but all over the world as it would be to go above the standards," says AEC chairman Glenn T. Seaborg.

According to Seaborg, the standards are under study and if the experts conclude they should be revised, "we would be happy, of course, to comply."

Some companies with nuclear plants under construction reportedly plan to announce they will voluntarily adhere to a much lower release of radiation than the standards require.

Westinghouse Electric Corp. has built nine nuclear plants and says their radiation leakage is rarely more than one per cent of the existing standard.

The debate over the effects of low doses of radiation centers around this question: If a given dose of radiation can be shown to cause 100 cases of cancer within a population sample, will a dose one-tenth as large result in ten cases, and will dose one hundredth as large result in one case?

Gofman and Tamplin contend this sort of direct, straight line or linear, relationship exists.

Many researchers such as Dr. John Storer of the Oak Ridge National Laboratory, disagree. Storer believes that evidence shows that with exposure to very small amounts of radiation, the harmful effect drops off sharply.

Pauling, a veteran of battles with the AEC over nuclear weapons tests and radioactive fallout, says of the Gofman and Tamplin estimate: "I don't think they've exaggerated at all. My own estimate is two or three fold higher."

All the figures are estimates because no one knows. As Lederberg put it, there is a "threshold of visibility"—a dose below which scientists can't be sure whether cell damage was caused by the radiation or something else.

Lederberg cited this uncertainty as reason enough for adopting a stricter standard, coupling it with intensive research.

According to AEC projections of power use, nuclear plants now generate one per cent but by the year 2000 will generate 69 per cent.

The AEC so far has refused to permit construction of a plant in a city.

But Dr. Edward Teller, father of the hydrogen bomb, said he believes "a big nuclear plant 700 feet underground on Manhattan Island is safer than one 70 miles away on the surface."

The AEC contends the chances of any accident that would release radioactivity are so slight as to be virtually nonexistent.

Seaborg and other AEC officials predict breeder reactors will be operational in the 1980's and because they produce their own plutonium fuel might, in Seaborg's words, "lead to the production of electricity at costs that would be spectacularly low by today's standards."

The AEC does not treat power plants lightly. Surveillance is intense during construction and afterward. All safety systems are multiple so if one doesn't work there is a backup.

IN THE NEWS

NEW YORK (AP) — Arthur Treacher, once type-cast in movies as a dour English butler, says he has decided to leave the Merv Griffin television show, resume his acting career and give more time to management of his restaurant business.

Crossroads Comment...

Who dunnit?

Now comes the Honorable Chet Huntley, retiring radio news announcer, to assert that the party of the first part, Life Magazine, has misquoted the party of the second part, Chet, himself.

He disclaims that during an interview he had said President Nixon frightened him, or that the shallowness of the man overwhelmed him.

In advance of expected rebuttal from Life Magazine and the author of the article, we can appreciate Mr. Huntley's chagrin and pain from barbs directed at his anatomy by those who thought his quoted remarks about the President were not only in bad taste but an exercise in hyperbole.

So if Mr. Huntley declares he was misquoted by a news media contemporary, this is his privilege just as it has been with other nationally known personalities who in the past have tilted in the arena of contradictions.

Huntley's denial was made in a letter to the Bozeman (Mont.) Chronicle. Perhaps he will become more vocal in his retirement broadcast Friday night. We'll be listening, Chet.

—O—

St. Swithin's day July 15 came and languished without comment in this column because of priority given the subjects of drugs and Chet's remarks about the President which are now disputed by him.

"St. Swithin's day, if thou dost rain, For 40 days it will remain."

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Oklahoman to Rule With Iron Hand

WASHINGTON — Carl Albert, the Oklahoman who will take over as House Speaker next year, has been portrayed in the press as a "nice guy."

Amiable, ailing and non-controversial, he is expected to serve a brief, bland term at the pinnacle before he is put out to pasture.

Those who believe this don't know Carl Albert. He has told intimates in blunt terms that he will rule the House with an iron hand. He doesn't intend to let the committee chairmen, those feudal warlords who now dominate the House, to tread on him.

Nor does he plan to wait around for directions from the White House. No matter who is President, Republican or Democrat, Albert intends to teach him that Congress is a separate branch of government.

The 62-year-old bantam, who has recuperated from a heart attack and trimmed down to a fighting weight, has been given the doctor's approval to return to full activity. He has every intention of remaining Speaker as long as he can be elected and is able to serve.

Next year, a surprised nation may find out why Carl Albert is known back in his home town of McAlester, Okla., as "the Little Giant from Little Dixie."

—Book Shredding—

The Nixon administration has introduced a space-age improvement over the Middle Age practice of book burning. At least two government agencies have used shredding machines to reduce magazines they don't like to unreadable confetti.

The Peace Corps destroyed the March-April issue of its magazine, "Volunteer" because the cover, say insiders, reflected anti-establishment sentiment. It depicted three hands held erect — one flashing the V-for-peace sign, another giving the clenched-fist black power salute, the third showing a pair of crossed fingers.

The memo authorizing the destruction, dated May 11, was addressed by public affairs director Thomas Roeser to administrative services director Joseph Czajkowski.

"You are authorized," directed Roeser, "to dispose of the 60,000 copies of Volunteer, which are being held at Editors Press, in the manner which you have suggested."

Looking Backward

Ninety-five Years Ago

Shortly after one o'clock yesterday morning the rain began to descend in torrents and continued to do so without intermission until nearly 10 o'clock. The streets looked like rivers. Water backed up four feet deep in the Evans, Fletcher & Co. foundry. For the first time in eight years business houses failed to get any mail except from the east. The flood filled the machinery at the waterworks pretty full of mud and it will take 24 hours to clean and put it back in running order. The storm was terribly destructive to farms along the banks of creeks. George M. Pemberton says that Muddy was higher than he had seen it in 40 years. Flat Creek was higher than since the first settlement.

Forty Years Ago

Jacob Brandt, former member of the P. Brandt Grocery Company, has purchased the George W. Driskell Grocery Store, 702 South Ohio avenue. He has been connected with the grocery business all his life. His father, Peter Brandt, founded the grocery company bearing his name in 1867 which continued its existence until last fall when the store building was leased by the Scott stores on the northwest corner of Fifth street and Ohio avenue.

That's the ancient adage which usually each year draws comment from the weather-watchers. We checked it out for Sedalia this year and the morning of July 15 it did rain and left a puddle in the driveway to the garage. A drizzle wouldn't have left that much water. It was water falling in drops condensed from vapor in the atmosphere—and that's rain even if it's only a trace.

Since then Sedalia has had scarcely any "precip" as the radio announcer informs us, not even a drizzle to speak of, let alone 40 days of rain in honor of St. Swithin.

So much for an outmoded adage.

—O—

Beethoven—Dig That Man!

Music lovers around the world are celebrating 1970 as the 200th anniversary of the birth of Ludwig van Beethoven. Even the teen-boppers.

A reasonably straight version of the finale—the "Ode to Joy"—from Beethoven's ninth and last symphony, written when the great composer was totally deaf, is currently climbing up on what the old folks once called the hit parade.

Some 143 years after the master's death, another generation is discovering him and claiming him as their own. Which is a good start toward a definition of immortality.

—O—

Oddities on Ohio avenue—a shoeshine boy hustling business; an attractive young lady wearing an ankle length skirt.

Europe's Economic Jewel

Germany Mirrors Great Drive

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

MUNICH, GERMANY—

Before I could crumple a sugar-cube wrapper and toss it in a dinner table ashtray, a German had reached out and done it for me. It was book form. The Germans detest litter, and there is almost none to be seen in their cities, along highways, anywhere.

Those in America and elsewhere who live by stereotypes, and there are always too many, profess to see in this sense of order some fatal cue that translates first into excessive discipline and then into a perilous tendency toward autocratic rule and repressive, militaristic behavior.

Though it is clear that fear of a restored Germany (already an incredibly accomplished fact) is very real in eastern Europe and the Soviet Union, I think a change has been wrought.

It is a generation in time since the 12 wild years of Hitler's frenzy of fire and death. You will not often today find his name graven anywhere on stone, and when you do, it will not be in celebration, as the French still glorify the all-conquering Napoleon.

In West Berlin, I stood with a German woman, mother of two children, before a memorial wall which bore Hitler's name. Behind it lay the hanging room of a prison where the Nazi dictator executed 1,800 German political prisoners. She said:

"The first time I came here I could not say one word."

She hates even to look at Berlin's massive Olympic stadium, for when the games took place there in 1936 Hitler was at his peak and his armed, uniformed hordes packed the great oval for all the world to see.

It cannot be forgotten that World War II was a much sterner lesson for Germany than World War I, when for all the military losses the nation was untouched by the winning allies. The second time, on top of Germany's (including Austria) 3.5 million battle deaths, millions more died as British and American bombers pounded German cities into crushed stone and left the acrid smell of burning flesh in the survivors' nostrils.

They, and many who have come after, hold the memory strong. Some are beset with guilt. Others are not, though they voice resolve that such slaughter shall not again be initiated by Germans. Despite endless stories of the rise of neo-Nazism, only a relative few would do it all again, and their political strength today is woefully unimpressive.

Still, the German drive, the German ambition, is undiminished. This beautiful city, which many Germans call their "secret capital," is a lovely restoration of the best in the nation's storied past.

One hardly would know 40 per cent of it had been wiped out by allied bombers. The great old churches, the halls and museums are all there as if untouched. The one reminder is a great pile of fragmented brick and stone, grass-covered, at the site where Munich in 1972 will play host to the Olympics.

A bus barker may point out where, in 1923, Munich police crushed Hitler's famed "beer hall putsch," killing some of his followers and setting back for years his rise to power. But the story is told tonelessly.

If Munich is the restored museum of old Germany, cities like Frankfurt am Main (the new great commercial and financial hub), Dusseldorf, Duisburg, Hannover and Hamburg have been rebuilt mostly in a modern mold that conveys the country's postwar economic resurgence. High-rise dwellings set in spreading green suburbs impart a gloss of newness in many places.

In the busy Ruhr and nearby zones, a third of West Germany's 60 million people now cluster. Huge industrial complexes rise from the twisted wreckage left by the nightly allied bomber runs of 1942-45. The Rhine's unbroken flow of commercial barge traffic makes Holland's Rotterdam today the world's biggest ocean port, serving the churning interior of revived Europe.

For all its immense driving force, its fabled capacity for hard, disciplined work, the new Germany is not immune to currents that trouble other lands. In Berlin and Heidelberg, students—some nihilistic, some provocatively Red, many just bewildered—rebel now and then as in America and elsewhere. The old family structure, always a bulwark, has weakened. Crime abounds in some cities, sex seems almost a mania, and Germany's rebirth has a hard materialistic look.

Countless Germans sense the lack even as they push on. Like our own puzzled millions, they are looking for some new uplifting spirit.

"You are old Father William," the young man said, "and your hair is exceedingly white, and yet you incessantly bid six no-trump. Do you think at your age it is right?"

In this Lewis Carroll poem, the old gent had a good answer to all questions. At the bridge table, he had managed to hold his loss to four tricks at six no-trump. It could have been worse.

Father William, who was sitting South, shook his gray locks and grunted. He explained to the youth sitting North how he would have made six no-trump for a top score against any lead but a diamond and that, if you didn't try for tops, you would never score well in duplicate.

He was right in his last statement. You can't win at duplicate without some top scores but he overlooked something even more cogent. That is, you can't win at duplicate when you get bottom scores.

With 18 good points, plus a 10, South was a trifle strong for a no-trump opening, so his club bid was quite proper. His two no-trump rebids was fine, as was North's jump to four spades.

At this point South should have passed. Had he decided he was divinely appointed to bid a slam, he should have bid it in spades.

In this duplicate game, six spades bid and made would have been a top score, while six spades made at a contract of just game would have been well-above average.

If old Father William had bid the spade slam, we will never know if the young man sitting North would have made it. He must choose the heart finesse to do it. If he chooses the club finesse, he will be off—and Father William might just kick him downstairs.

When a Bikini Runneth Over

By BETTY CANARY

Anyone reading a columnist's mail would soon learn that everybody in the world has at least one pet peeve or a problem.

The antimachine campaign goes steadily forward. For example, we sympathize with the woman who received credit card charges from Denver when she has never been west of the Mississippi. Also with the man who got a bill from the IRS which stated blandly that he owes $2,000 in back taxes. After all, why should he pay the quarter to send a copy of his check?

Changing social practices bring social problems. One woman worries about what she should wear to her mother's second wedding while another wants to know if her daughter should send announcements when an out-of-wedlock child is born.

There are scores of seasonal gripes, including, "I hate people who show up unannounced when we're having a swim party," and "Those with bare feet should be barred from restaurants!"

Warm weather really brings out the swimsuit haters. We are amazed at how many men must be out there watching women whose bikinis runneth over. It sometimes seems that any time left over from being annoyed by overweight women in skimpy suits, these men spend with pen and paper. However, I have to agree with these beach boys. If more women spent more time in front of full-length mirrors, they'd probably put more on before appearing in public. (Note to Gentleman From Indiana: The previous statement does not apply to your letter. What a girl wears while sunbathing on her own terrace is her business. Men who stand in windows overlooking other people's yards may end up being police business.)

As with all things, there is another viewpoint. Men would be amazed at how many women are sick and tired of seeing men wearing shorts. Not all men. Only those with skinny legs, knobby knees and sagging abdomens.

Of course, there is a continuing stream of mail from combatants on both sides of the battle of the sexes.

For those male chauvinists who write in their complaints about women, blaming the female of the species for everything wrong in the world—including vandalism in public schools and cancer—all I can say is, you're deluding yourselves. However, hide your heads in the sand if you like. Or buy a copy of Playboy and forget it.

To those engaged in selling the Women Are Always Superior line: Come on, now, girls. Haven't you ever noticed that Blondie is a cartoon?

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Take These Precautions To Cut Down Home Burns

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Burns in the home continue to claim thousands of victims annually. Most of these accidents are caused by overheating cooking oil or wearing flammable fabrics around an open fire.

To prevent the former you should 1) always heat cooking oil slowly; 2) cut down the heat at the first sign the oil is smoking; 3) keep a pan lid handy so that, if the oil bursts into flame, you can cover it quickly; 4) never turn your back on a pan of heating oil; 5) never take potatoes out of water and toss them into hot oil. You should dry them first because water will cause hot oil to splatter or explode.

As for fabrics, the most flammable are cotton and rayon. Linen catches fire easily but the flame is readily extinguished. Three new fabrics that are guaranteed to be fire-resistant — Dynel, Teklan and Verel — have been developed. Whether or not they will become popular will depend on whether a demand is created by an alert and safety-conscious public.

Q — I am trying to lose weight. My doctor has prescribed vitamins. My friends all say they will make me gain weight. What do you think?

A — Vitamins in themselves will cause neither a gain nor a loss of weight. Some doctors prescribe vitamin supplements for persons whose reducing diet is deficient in certain vitamins.

Q — Can a woman in her late 40s with arthritis donate a kidney to a relative for transplant?

A — Because with one kidney gone you would lose your factor of safety, most surgeons prefer to get kidneys for transplant from a person who has just died. The ideal kidney donor is under 40 and in good health. Persons whose arthritis is associated with gout, lupus, polyarthritis or psoriasis should not be used as donors.

Q — What is Sparine given for and what are its side effects?

A — Promazine (Sparine), a prescription drug, is given to control nausea and as a tranquilizer. The side effects include drowsiness, dizziness and dryness of the mouth. In persons with hardening of the arteries or a high blood pressure it must be given with caution.

O's Jinx Continues Over KC

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One-run defeats were the bill of fare for the Cardinals and Royals Tuesday night as Cincinnati edged St. Louis 6-5 and Baltimore nipped Kansas City 2-1.

Cincinnati's seldom-used catcher Pat Corrales broke a 4-4 tie with a two-run single in the seventh off Steve Carlton, 5-13.

Joe Torre singled in one Redbird run and two more were walked in the third. The next inning Dal Maxvill's double and a single by Carlton added another marker.

Clay Carroll, 7-1, held the Cards at bay the last three innings to hand them their 12th defeat in 14 games.

In Kansas City, Boog Powell opened the Orioles' ninth with a walk. He was forced by Brooks Robinson. Elrod Hendricks then singled and Terry Crowley doubled in the winning run off Bob Johnson, 3-7.

The Royals had tied it 1-1 in the seventh when Lou Piniella scored on Cookie Rojas' single.

Baltimore tallied its first run in the third, when starting pitcher Jim Hardin singled, went to second on a fielder's choice and scored on Bob Orich's single.

Eddie Watt, 3-6, pitched two innings for the victory.

Seeking Housing

Carl Walker of the Sedalia Senior Babe Ruth League has announced that the league is seeking housing for boys from different teams who will be here for the eight-state tournament. Dates of the tournament at Liberty Park are July 31 through Aug. 4.

*Persons wishing to house boys during those dates are asked to contact Carl Walker.

Wrestling Results

Opening — Frank Hester was declared the winner, when Scandor Akbar was disqualified in the one-fall match.

Added attraction — Danny Little Bear and Oki Shikina wrestled to a 15-minute draw. Special — Bob Geigel was the winner over Nature Boy Kirby in a one-fall event.

Semifinal — Handsome Harley Race and Rufus R. Jones were both counted out of the ring by referee Dick Moody.

Main event — The team of Bob Geigel, Frank Hester and Danny Little Bear won a best-of-three falls match over Oki Shikina, Scandor Akbar and Nature Boy Kirby, in a six-man tag team match.

Houston moves into St. Louis tonight with Tom Griffin, 3-10, to pitch for the Astros against Nelson Briles, 2-2, for the Cardinals.

In Kansas City tonight, Dave McNally, 12-7, of Baltimore will face Bill Butler 3-9, for the Royals.

Granger Haunts Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Wayne Granger, who set a major league record last year with 90 pitching appearances, says he's still glad to be biting the hand that once fed him.

The slim Cincinnati reliever, a $20,000 St. Louis Cardinal bonus baby in 1965, made it three nibbles in 24 hours as the Reds downed the Redbirds 6-5 in Busch Stadium Tuesday.

Granger delivered only 11 pitches in registering his 21st save of the season. He had 27 last year.

A night earlier he set the Cards down for one inning to preserve a win for Gary Nolan in the first game, then pitched two scoreless innings in the nightcap to record another triumph.

"Yeh, I get pumped up a little against them, you might say," said Granger, who retired Julian Javier in the ninth to save a win for Clay Carroll Tuesday.

"It's always something special to come back here and pitch. I think they got to me once last year, but I've had real good luck against them."

Possessor of a 4-2 record in 34 relief appearances for the 1968 National League champions, Granger was traded with outfielder Bobby Tolan to the Reds for Vada Pinson.

"I had done a good job all the way for them in the minors," he said. "I had my heart in this club."

Six Iron

The six iron should be played in approximately the same position as the five iron; with the only exception being just a little more off center than the five and a slightly open stance. The distance the average golfer should get is from 135 to 145 yards. Be sure to follow the finer points of your swing as already pointed out by me in earlier articles.

Junior Babe Ruth Pairings Are Set

JEFFERSON CITY — The District Two Junior Babe Ruth League Tournament pairings have been established at Jefferson City. Dates of this year's tourney are July 23-26.

The 15-man Sedalia All-Star squad is being managed this year by Nick Perri and Chuck Stockstill.

The tournament is a double-elimination affair. One team will move up through the winners' bracket, while the other will progress through the losers' circle.

In a double elimination tourney, if the team from the winners' bracket should lose in the championship game, there would have to be another championship contest, since both teams would have one loss.

The winner of the district championship will advance to the state Junior Babe Ruth Tournament in Sikeston.

Following the state championship, the winner will move to Boonville for the regional finals. The regional tourney is the last stop before the national finals.

The two alternates are Alonzo Harris and Bill Harris.

Walnut Hills To Host City Tournaments

Jim Hatfield, club professional at the new Walnut Hills Country Club, has announced that the Ladies City Tournament will be held between Sept. 7-12.

During that week in Sept., ladies in Sedalia may go out to the course and quality their nine-hole score for their respective flights.

Sept. 12, ladies wishing to play, but who have not yet shot their nine-hole qualification round, may do so prior to the final nine holes, scheduled for the same day.

Late in September, Hatfield announced that the Men's City Tournament will be played.

Both tournaments will be open to any resident of Sedalia.

Five leagues will be represented in the tourney this year. In addition to Sedalia, and host Jefferson City, other teams will be Mid-Mo (made up of Linn and Chamois), Tri-County (made up of Ottumwa, Clarksburg, Bunceton, Prairie Home, Blackwater, Jamestown, and Pilot Grove) and Tri-City (made up of New Franklin, Salisbury and Fayette).

The opening game of the tourney will be Thursday at 7 p.m.; in that contest Mid-Mo will face Tri-City. The only other game on the schedule for Thursday will be at 9 p.m., when Tri-City battles Jefferson City.

Sedalia drew a bye in the opening round, but will tangle with the winner of Mid-Mo, Tri-City game. That contest is set for Friday at 7 p.m. If the locals win, they will move into a quarterfinal game against the winner of the Tri-County, Jefferson City game.

Pollard Enters Pony Car

Art Pollard officially entered the Falstaff 100 at the Missouri State Fairgrounds early Wednesday. The stock car feature will be held at the Fairgrounds' one-mile track Saturday.

United States Auto Club promoter J. C. Agajanian is expecting a 40-car field to vie for the 30 starting positions. Pollard will be behind the wheel of this Camaro pony car.

Jay Woodside Will Drive

Art Pollard Enters Race

J. C. Agajanian, promoter of the United States Auto Club's Falstaff 100 at the Fairgrounds Saturday afternoon has officially announced that Art Pollard of Medford, Ore., and Midwest super-sprint champion Jay Woodside of Kansas City have been inked for the 100-mile feature.

Both drivers will be making their first appearances in a USAC stock car race on the dirt oval, where more than forty drivers are expected to vie for the fastest 30 positions.

Agajanian has posted a record $15,000 purse for Saturday's race.

Pollard, a four-time 500 starter had his best finish in the Memorial Day speed classic in 1967 when he was eighth. In 1968 he was running in the top three with twelve laps to go when his STP Turbine car broke down.

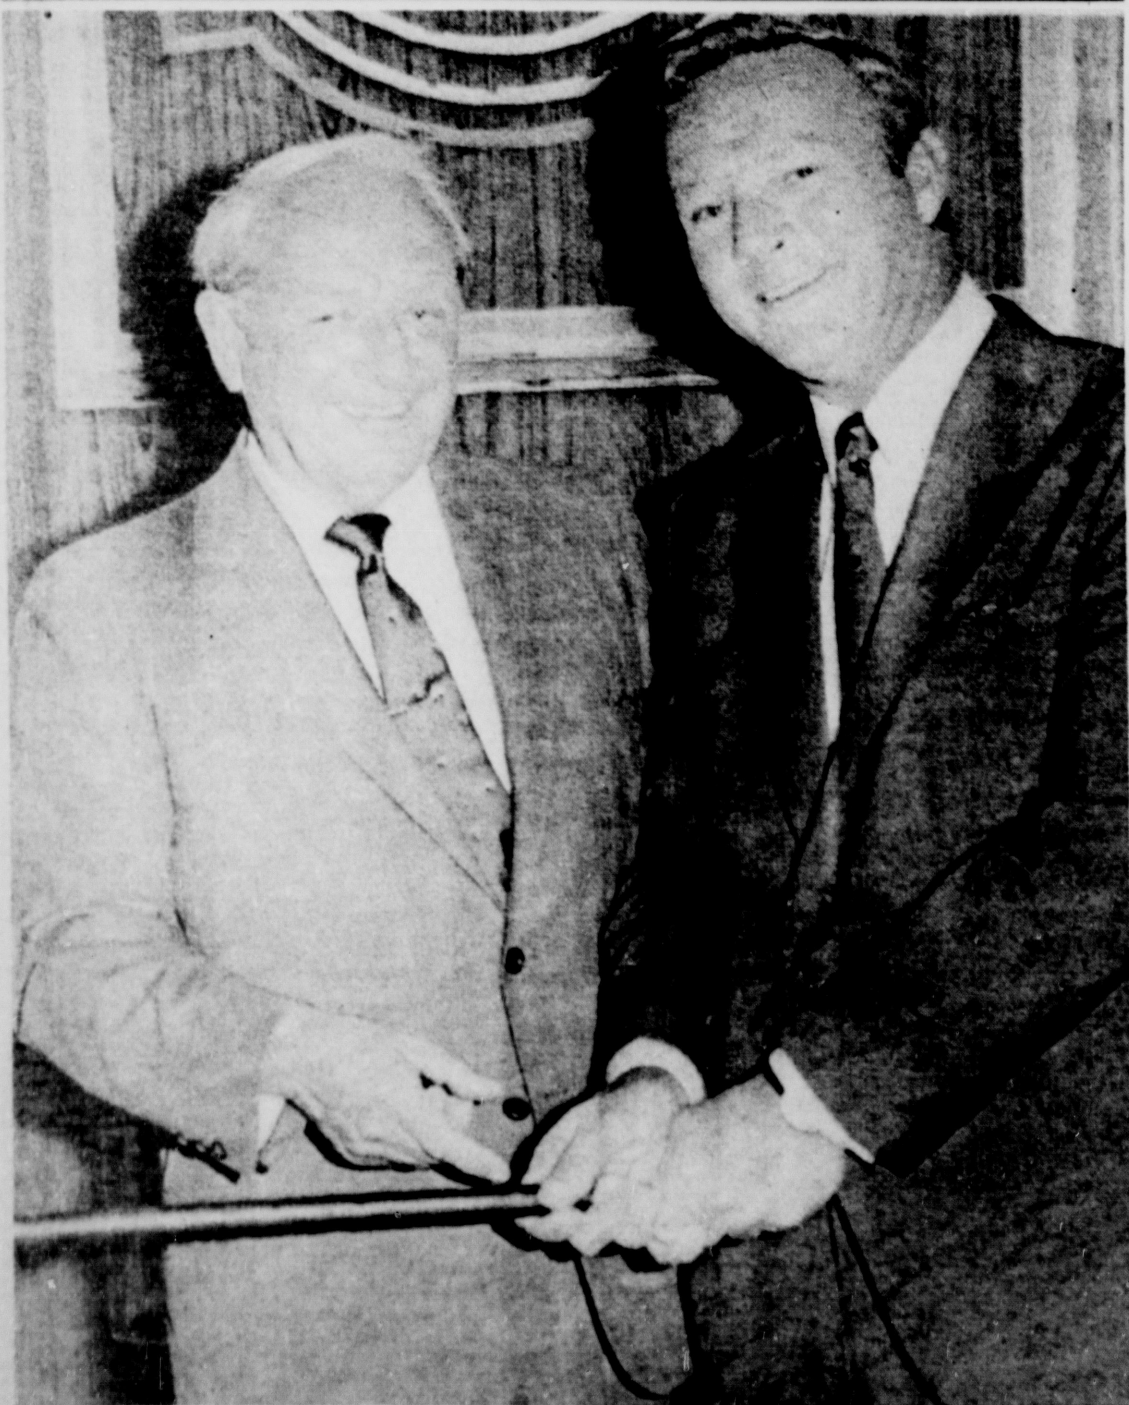

He'll be handling one of the "pony cars," a 1969 Camaro, in Saturday's 100-mile. His best finish so far this year in the smaller car was a second to Roger McCluskey in the season opener at Sears Point, Calif. last April. His car is the same one NASCAR's Pete Hamilton drove on the NASCAR circuit last year.

Woodside, the sixth-ranked driver in IMCA Sprint Car point standings, and a former National Supermodified champion will make the jump into auto racing's big league in a 1969 Dodge Charger. The car is brand new and will make the veteran Kansas City driver a strong threat to possibly upset the USAC stars.

He'll have to beat such stars as three-time Indianapolis 500 winner A. J. Foyt; defending champion Roger McCluskey; two-time title holder Don White; Indy veteran Jim Malloy; Butch Hartman, Verlin Eaker; Earl Wagner and Lem Blankenship.

The fastest thirty-qualifiers of the day will take the green flag at 3 p.m. in the 100-mile feature. Time trials will start at 1 p.m., with practice runs at 12 noon. Gates will open at 10 a.m. when 12,000 seats go on sale.

Entire Season Is In Balance

NEW YORK (AP)—The College All-Star game, the pre-season schedule and possibly the entire season remained up in the air today as pro football owners continued their marathon meeting after failing to come up with any answers Tuesday in their dispute with the players.

The 26 club owners "touched on every aspect of the negotiations and no firm decision was made," said Lamar Hunt, owner of the Super Bowl Champion Kansas City Chiefs in a joint press conference with George Halas of the Chicago Bears after Tuesday's 11½ hour meeting.

He did say some decisions were expected today when the owners resumed their talks in a midtown hotel at 10 a.m., EDT.

Certain to be discussed were: —The pension plan for the players, which is the crux of the dispute with the National Football League Players Association.

—Whether to send a representative to Washington tonight to join in a meeting between players' representatives and federal mediators.

—The College All-Star game between the Chiefs and the All-Stars in Chicago July 31, which has been jeopardized with the Chiefs being unable to prepare for the game.

—The pre-season schedule, which also has been threatened by the lockout by owners which has kept veteran players from organized practices which began for most teams this week.

—The regular season itself.

"There was some discussion along those lines," replied Halas to a question concerning the possible cancelling of the entire pro football season. "A few owners did bring it up."

However, he shrugged off such talk as having little serious intention, but admitted it might be brought up again.

Fans Show Disapproval Over Move

by TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was Clay Kirby's first brush with baseball immortality and he didn't want to leave but Preston Gomez had been there before. As usual the San Diego manager had the last word and Kirby was gone.

The mini-conflict occurred Tuesday night as the 23-year-old Kirby twirled eight no-hit innings against the New York Mets but left the game for a pinch hitter in the bottom of the eighth, trailing 1-0.

The Mets greeted reliever Jack Baldschun with three hits and a pair of runs in blanking the Padres 3-0 behind Jim McAndrew's three-hitter.

"He was coming out," said Gomez, "because I play to win. I knew he had a no-hitter going but we got to score some runs."

The pinch hitter, Clarence Gaston batted for Kirby with the crowd of 10,373 in San Diego roaring its disapproval loudly with cries of "No, No, No." One fan jumped onto the field and attempted to get at the Padres dugout and Gomez. Security police, however, thwarted the spectator's attempt.

The boos continued as Gaston struck out and became even louder when Baldschun took the mound to face the Mets in the ninth.

When Mets' shortstop Bud Harrelson greeted Baldschun with a leadoff single to left, snapping the no-hit bid, the reaction from the fans was a mixture of cheers and boos.

The fuss didn't appear to bother Gomez though, who after the game said he had done the same thing while managing at Spokane of the Pacific Coast League a couple of years ago.

"Phil Ortega was pitching a no-hitter for eight and I batted for him in the bottom of the inning," Gomez said. "The pinch hitter doubled and we won 2-1."

Kirby, a right-hander with a 5-12 mark this season, surrendered the Mets' run in the opening inning, when he said "the mound was muddy and I was throwing a lot of high stuff."

Tommie Agee opened with a walk and one out later Ken Singleton walked. The two runners pulled a double steal and Agee scored on Art Shamsky's ground out.

Kirby said he was "a little mad and a little surprised but he's (Gomez) the manager."

As he calmly smoked a cigarette in the clubhouse and joked and smiled, the 6-foot-3, 175-pounder said, "Heck, last year I lost 20 games. So I wouldn't have minded losing a no-hitter. It was the first time I had ever come close to one."

Kirby allowed five walks and struck out four while Baldschun was ripped for another single by Cleon Jones and a two-run single by Joe Foy.

In other National League games, Houston stopped Pittsburgh 3-1; Montreal tripped Los Angeles 5-2; Chicago ripped Atlanta 8-2; Cincinnati ripped St. Louis 6-5 and Philadelphia rocked San Francisco 9-6.

The Pirates saw their East lead shrink to one game over the Mets as the Astros topped them for the second successive night sparked by Jesus Alou's fifth inning solo homer.

Alou also scored in a two-run Houston first inning after drawing a walk. Norm Miller and Doug Rader drove in the Astros runs while Gene Alley had a run-scoring double for Pittsburgh.

Carl Morton slammed a homer and won his 12th game to become Montreal's winningest pitcher ever. The right-hander had the support of consecutive fifth inning blasts from Ron Fairly and Rusty Staub. Steve Garvey had a solo shot for the Dodgers.

Right-hander Ferguson Jenkins cracked a two-run homer and limited the Braves to four hits in the Cubs' triumph, delayed by rain five times.

Jenkins evened his record at 11-11 while Hank Aaron drove in a run with a sixth inning single, giving the Braves' great his 1,800th lifetime RBI, the ninth player to reach that mark.

Ron Santo and Randy Hundley stroked homers for the Cubs.

Pat Corrales ripped a two-run, two-out seventh inning single to give the Reds their victory, snapping a 4-1 tie. Deron Johnson drove in three runs with a single, double and his 19th homer in the Phils victory. The loss went to Juan Marichal, whose record dipped to 3-9.

The books opened at 8 a.m. this morning for entries in the seventh-annual Show-Me Rodeo which will be held Thursday through Saturday nights at the Sho-Me Arena, three miles west of the Holiday Inn.

The entry book will be closed at 8 p.m. tonight at the rodeo office, located on the farm of Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Lowe, RFD 4.

Each year, many of the nation's top cowboys and cowgirls compete at the local rodeo, which is approved by the International Rodeo Association.

Several thousand dollars will be paid in prize money to the winning contestants at the final performance Saturday night at 8 p.m.

One of the best-known rodeo clowns and bull fighters is scheduled for performances each night of the event. Ron Degonia of East Carbonlet, Ill., brings with him two sheep dogs and monkeys that ride the dogs' back while penning wild sheep. This act has been a crowd pleaser for many years.

Steve Gatlin of West Memphis, Ark., will be the announcer for this year's Sho-Me Rodeo event.

Bucking stock for the rodeo is being provided by the Running-F Rodeo Co. of Delaware, Okla., and offers to be the best ever presented in this area.

Top bucking bulls as "Tiger," "Brad," "Good-fellow," "Cut-Across-Shorty," "Nylon," "Tiny Tim," "Quick Draw," and many others are included in the stock.

Bucking horses such as "Rag Mop," "Hard Twist," "Montana," "Bottoms Up," "Crazy Crow," "Sun Valley" and "Terry Wrong" will be trying to buck off their riders before the eight-second count is up.

Also featured at this year's rodeo will be bareback, saddle bronc and bull riding; calf roping, steer wrestling and girls barrel racing.

The IRA sanctioned rodeo performances will be staged Thursday through Saturday nights in the Sho-Me arena at 8 p.m.

John Mackey, of Baltimore and the president of the NFLPA, said he had never heard anyone talk on those lines.

Hunt said he held out hope that his Chiefs still could play in the All-Star game, noting that Kansas City Coach Hank Stram has said he could get the team ready if practice begins at least one week before the contest. That would be Friday.

NEW YORK, NFL Dispute, take two: Friday.

If no settlement is reached, not only the All-Star game would be in trouble, but the pre-season contests as well. They start one week later, Aug. 7.

However, a promoter in Jacksonville, Fla., said he has been assured that an opening week game between Miami and Pittsburgh would be played, with rookies, if necessary. Rookies have been permitted to work out.

"I feel in my own mind that the pre-season games will be played," said Hunt, who is the president of the American Conference of the NFL. Halas is the president of the National Conference.

Hunt said it would "not be appropriate to speculate on federal mediation" in the dispute, although Mackey reaffirmed later his decision to leave for Washington today despite the resumption of the meeting of owners in New York.

"I can understand that they might have to meet again when there are 26 owners," he said.

Hurls By Twins

McLain Lands 1st Win

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Denny McLain scored a major breakthrough, and got a break.

The breakthrough was the Detroit right-hander's first victory—5-2 over the Minnesota Twins Tuesday night—since being reinstated after his half-season suspension for association with gamblers.

The break was he didn't suffer a broken left leg when he was felled by Cesar Tovar's line drive in the eighth inning.

"A major breakthrough," said McLain. "I think I'm getting better. I think I'm starting to turn the corner."

"He's not quite at mid-season form, but he's getting there," said Tiger Manager Mayo Smith.

McLain almost lost any further chance of reaching mid-season form when Tovar's liner struck him on the left leg and sent him writhing to the ground. He suffered a badly bruised shin bone and was to have precautionary X rays taken.

Smith didn't expect McLain to miss his next scheduled start, which would be his seventh. In his first five starts, all incomplete games, he was tagged with two losses.

In starting to turn the corner, McLain kept the Tigers within four games of American League East-leading Baltimore, which edged Kansas City 2-1. Minnesota's loss cuts the Twins' West lead to 3½ games over California, a 10-6 victor over Boston.

The New York Yankees topped Milwaukee 4-2, Oakland blanked Washington 4-0 and the Chicago White Sox downed Cleveland 3-0 in other AL action.

McLain allowed six hits, one of them a two-run homer by George Mitterwald. Willie Horton's two-run homer in a four-run fifth inning, was the big offensive backing for McLain.

Baltimore gained its victory over Kansas City with a run in the ninth. Boog Powell drew a Palmer played a practice round with Howie Johnson and Chris Blocker Wednesday, did not keep score, then went into Pittsburgh to be honored at a testimonial dinner for his selection by the Associated Press as Athlete of the Decade.

LIGONIER, Four-Ball Golf, take 2: Decade.

The field is possibly the strongest of the year. About the only major names missing are U.S. Open champion Tony Jacklin, South African Gary Player and Frank Beard.

In addition to the Palmer-Nicklaus and Archer-Nichols combos, some other outstanding teams are Ken Still and Gene Littler, winner of the team-play CBS Golf Classic last year, Australian Bruce Devlin and Bob Charles of New Zealand, and Masters champion Billy Casper and Bert Greene.

Greene has been out of action with an injured shoulder for two weeks but Casper said he has been assured his partner will be available.

"I sure hope so," Casper said. "I can't handle Palmer and Nicklaus alone. One at a time, okay, but not both of them."

Dave Hill, paired with brother Mike—both are tournament winners this year—was a late arrival. They are one of four brother combinations in the tournament. The others are Dick and John Lotz, Tom and Mickey Shaw and South Africans Harold and Allan Henning. And there's one uncle-nephew team, Charles and Curtis Sifford.

Leading money winner Lee Trevino is paired with Jesse Whittenton, a part-time tourist and Trevino's business partner.

Some other outstanding teams include Sam Snead and Gardner Dickinson, Bruce Crampton-Orville Moody, Dave Stockton-Bob Lunn, Doug Sanders-Chi Rodriguez, Dave Marr-Johnny Pott, Bunky Henry-Larry Hinson, Ray Floyd-Bob Rosburg and Miller Barber-Dob January.

It's a lushly beautiful course set in the rolling hills of Western Pennsylvania. It's heavily treed, studded with trees and features undulating, two-level greens. Water comes into play on seven holes.

"A team that can average 66 should be in pretty good position," said Palmer. "I won't say that score, 264 will win it, but it will be close, unless the course is playing a lot faster and the greens a lot slower than I expect them to be."

Nicklaus and Palmer, the two giants of the game, won this event in 1966 and are the heavy favorites this time. Between them they have about $2.2 million in official earnings and have a total 89 tour victories, including 15 major titles.

Nicklaus, the recently crowned British Open champ, withdrew from last week's Philadelphia Classic, complaining he was tired. He was not expected to arrive until Wednesday.

Trial Set To Resume

BOSTON (AP)—Joe Cronin, president of the American League, was to resume testimony today at a National Labor Relations Board hearing into the firing of two league umpires in 1968.

The umpires, Al Salerno and Bill Valentine, were fired by Cronin because of alleged "incompetence." But they have filed an unfair labor practice suit contending that they were dismissed because they were trying to organize a union for league umpires.

Testifying Tuesday before Board Examiner David Davidson, Cronin cited "arrogance" as one reason leading up to the dismissal.

Valentine "could not keep an even temper," Cronin said, and Salerno "had been in trouble since the beginning of his career."

Cronin said he had no idea that American League umpires were talking about a union until "two or three days after they (Salerno and Valentine) were dismissed."

"I read about it in the papers after they called a press conference to say they were fired because of their efforts to organize a union," he said.

Cronin, after citing several instances where he questioned the professional conduct of the two, said former umpire supervisor Cal Hubbard went to Oakland, Calif., in 1968 to talk to Salerno and Valentine, specifically "to try to salvage them."

Cronin testified that Hubbard's assessment after the trip was "We might just as well replace these two now. I can't do anything with them."

Much of Cronin's testimony centered on specifics that he said led to dismissal of the two.

Cronin called the pair "technically pretty fair umpires," but said "an umpire must keep his composure."

"The first rule in the book is when the seventh inning is on, you forget the sixth. Each day is a new game, and no grudges should be carried over."

He said the pair was dismissed Sept. 16, prior to the World Series, because Salerno was scheduled to umpire in the Series.

"Salerno had been in so much trouble this year, we couldn't see putting him in the World Series," he said.

Congolese Enjoys American Freedom

KINSHASA, the Congo (AP) — At home in Detroit, Elaine Wamba considered herself as black as the next Negro. Two years ago when she came here to live the Congolese called her "munde," a Lingala word that represents the way whites feel and act.

"I have fairer skin than most Congolese but that was the last thing I expected to be called, she recalls.

That was the first impression for Mrs. Wamba, 24, the former Elaine Brown. At college in Michigan she met and married a Congolese student. Now she's one of the dozen or so black Americans who are here trying life African style. Ten are women.

They had very different backgrounds but the same ambition: as a black to live in a black society.

Mrs. Wamba has a comfortable home; her husband fills a senior civil service post. It wasn't always like that. Just after her arrival she carried water in a jug along unpaved streets and competed for sleep against the decibels from a bar next door.

When her husband started work he earned $70 a month. They lived in one of the teeming areas that surround the chic, Europeanized center of Kinshasa. She became pregnant, had a natural birth, and lost the baby.

At that time she didn't think she could make it. Now she sees no reason why she couldn't spend the rest of her life here.

"As a black I have a sense of freedom here I never had in the States," she says. "I feel here as I never could go back there. My own situation is different and I can look at things in a different way. It's changed me—for the better, I think."

Charles Robinson, a Washingtonian, has been in the Congo on and off for nine years. He has seen some of the worst of the country's crises.

"You've no idea how it feels to be a member of the majority instead of the minority," he observes. "I never felt insecure here even when the trouble was worst—even when every policeman was carrying a gun, shouting at you, asking for your papers. I felt like I was one of the majority."

Robinson, who is in his 40s, is in a 50-50 partnership with a Congolese businessman. He neither seeks nor rejects black or white company. He plays in integrated poker game Thursday nights. "I could spend a lot of my life in Africa," he says.

phatic "yes" when asked if she thinks other black Americans should try the experience of coming back to the source.

However much they try to integrate, black Americans run into one stumbling block, tribalism. Mrs. Wamba's husband is a member of the Bakongo tribe but she finds herself left out of family councils, which settle disputes involving family property and even act in marriage guidance.

She doesn't speak Kikongo, the tribal language, and feels she is not 100 per cent accepted. But her two years here have given her some insight.

"Black Americans come to Africa expecting to be welcomed with open arms," she says. "They're not. The Congolese regard them much as they do other non-Africans. They have to work to get accepted."

Street Academies May Be Answer

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — "We've got a built-in advantage in reaching the people out there," said C. T. Martin, jerking a thumb at the thoroughfare that cuts through Summerhill, a predominantly black Atlanta slum area.

"Who is the only government worker who can go in there and not worry about being hassled? It's the postman."

Such is the lever, he believes, that will help the U.S. Post Office Department bring high school dropouts back to school and perhaps eventually to department jobs.

Atlanta is one of six cities in which the department, with a $1.04-million grant from the Department of Labor and the Office of Economic Opportunity, is establishing street academies in slum areas. The others are in Newark, Detroit, San Francisco, Chicago and Washington.

Their mission is to get "unreachable" slum youths hooked on education through an unorthodox, highly flexible curriculum taught by postal workers who have no teaching experience.

The academies do not seek to place dropouts back into public schools, but rather to get them to pass tests that will qualify them for high school equivalency certificates. If enough pass, the postal department plans to set up schools such as New York's Harlem Prep where they could study for college entrance exams.

About 250 dropouts are enrolled in the program nationwide and the goal is to get 90 high school certificates per year.

The school in Summerhill, which has about 9,000 residents, opened May 1 with high hopes and 55 students persuaded into giving education another chance. Three of the students promptly dropped out.

The students attend the academy six hours each day, Monday through Friday, and work four hours nightly at the post office, which pays them $2.38 per hour.

It is too early to gauge the program's success—or failure—but Martin says the students are responding to a curriculum worked out by the teachers, none of whom has ever taught professionally.

One teacher devised a way to teach simple mathematics with a pair of dice.

Another teaches trigonometry on a pool table "with astounding results," says Martin.

"The thing is that we can use these things to show them how to learn mathematics because these items are part of their lives," says Martin. "They are comfortable with these things.

Reading is the same way. You don't force him to read things that he doesn't relate to—he reads material that interests him."

Public school officials indicate the academy may be duplicating their programs. The Fulton County School Board says its more traditional and structured programs, which include one that allows a dropout to study and work, have sliced the dropout rate by 50 per cent in the past 10 years.

They are also skeptical of the government pumping $1 million into a teaching program that does not rely heavily upon trained teachers.

"The Man Without a Country" is a mingling of fact and fiction. There is no source of information concerning Philip Nolan except in the story.

Mind Your Money

Mail Orders Can Lead to Problems

By PETER WEAVER

Q — In May, 1969, I ordered several items from Unity Buying Service Inc., Mt. Vernon, N.Y. A 24-inch piece of luggage never arrived.

I wrote UBS twice. No answer. I tried to call. The operator said the company was not listed. In October, I received a form letter which said I was to write in to get an "authorized return label." I wrote back to say I had nothing to return and explained again that my bag never arrived.

It's been more than a year now and still no money back or no bag. Can you help? —Mrs. R. R. Lenoir, N.C.

A — A postal inspector tells me Unity Buying Service "is being investigated." He says the company is swamped with up to 1,500 orders a day and does make most of its deliveries. Still, complaints are coming in from all over the country.

I'm passing your letter on to Postal Inspector In Charge, New York, N.Y. 10001. The Post Office says that any complaints against UBS should be sent to this address and the company will be notified. Unfortunately, postal inspectors have no power to force a mail-order house to make adjustment such as getting your money back for nondelivery. No legal action can be taken unless outright fraud can be proved.

This is outrageous. Post Office files are jammed full with complaints about money lost in mail-order deals. Many millions of dollars are lost every year because consumers have no way to get their money back. Congress should consider legislation which would empower the Post Office to strictly regulate and punish mail-order malpractice. It's long overdue.

Q — Our home, both cars and bank accounts are all in both our names. We have four married children. Is it necessary to have a will? Do you know what the usual charge is—Mrs. W.C.O., Montrose, Calif.

A — For modest-sized estates, legal fees for drawing up a will and the necessary tax planning that ought to go with it usually cost from $100 to $250. A properly drawn will helps in several ways. Suppose you outlive one or more of your children? A different division would be required.

Without a will, your survivors would have to post a bond which is usually worth twice the amount of your estate (exclusive of real estate). These bonds are expensive. You can get names of lawyers who specialize in wills and estate planning from your local bar association's "Lawyer Referral Service."

The American Association for Retired Persons, 1225 Connecticut Ave., N.W., Washington, D.C., has several booklets and a good bibliography on financial and estate planning for retirement.

Q — I went to three discount department stores to purchase a single pair of men's undershorts. I was refused in all three stores because these shorts come in packages of three. Is it legal for the stores to make me buy three pair when I can only afford one pair at a time? —Mrs. A.C. Endwell, N.Y.

A — It's annoying but it's legal. Try talking to the manager of the store. Some who value a customer's return business will allow packages to be opened. The merchandise can then be sold at the unit price.

Q — I signed a 15-year termite control contract with Orkin Exterminating in 1962. I have paid the annual reinspection fee on time but have had no reinspection. What should I do? —F. T. Gastonia, N.C.

A — Don't worry. It's to the company's advantage to inspect for termites because your contract guarantees you will have no problems up to 1977. We passed your letter on to Orkin anyway and I'm sure your local termite inspector will get a nudge.

TAKE NOTE: According to Co-Op Consumers, certain drugs taken in combination with other drugs or certain foods can produce dangerous interactions. Antacids inhibit the action of penicillin and anticoagulants. Barbiturates, antihistamines and tranquilizers can be dangerously strengthened by the use of alcohol. The use of tranquilizers and antihistamines will strengthen the action of both.

Only Orchid Jordan Has Filed For Seat

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Only the widow of slain state Rep. Leon Jordan filed for his 11th District seat in the Missouri House of Representatives in the special five-day filing period.

Jordan, head of the Negro political organization, Freedom, Inc., was struck by three shotgun blasts as he walked from his Kansas City tavern early last Wednesday.

The special filing period expired at 5 p.m. Tuesday. Mrs. Jordan filed Monday for the Democratic nomination for the post.

Lee Bohannon, a militant also seeking the Democratic bid, is the only other candidate. He had filed before Jordan's murder.

Bethany Passes, Columbia Downs Special Elections

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Columbia voters rejected a proposed increased school tax but residents of Bethany approved industrial bonds in special elections in Missouri Tuesday.

In Columbia, a proposed increase of 38 cents per $100 assessed valuation received 59.7 per cent approval. The tally was 3,200-2,163. A two-thirds majority was required for passage.

In Bethany, a $275,000 general obligation bond issue was passed 793-11.

The Human Mind Makes A Valuable Storehouse

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — The best safe-deposit vault is the human mind.

Among the valuables stored in it are memories, which often have the power to uplift the spirit and sometimes make it wise. One of the pleasant things about memories is that you can share them with others, over and over again, and never wake up on the morrow a penny poorer.

Your own hoard of memories is pretty extensive if you can look back and remember when: Dainty ladies kept a lace handkerchief tucked primly in the sleeves of their blouses.

If you were the middle child in a large family, you thought clothing came in only two sizes — too big for you or too little for you.

When you visited the doctor, no matter what ailed you, the first thing he asked you to do was to stick out your tongue and say "ah-h-h-h-h-h!"

The usual waiting line at the neighborhood movie house melted to nothing the day the price went up from a dime to 15 cents. People looked at each other wonderingly — and asked how far could inflation go.

When you had to go somewhere, you went as near to it as you could by streetcar, then walked the rest of the way.

People read with considerable interest that another war had started in Europe or Asia, but thought — well, after all, what else could you expect of foreigners?

Every young wife in America spent at least part of every other day looking at herself in the mirror and brooding over what Mary Pickford had that she didn't have — besides Douglas Fairbanks.

If you inherited anything from a relative who had passed to his reward, it was more likely to be old furniture than fresh money.

Men who chewed tobacco were contemptuously sure that the sissies who smoked cigarettes would sooner or later die of tuberculosis.

If you didn't have the cash in your pocket to buy it, you did without it.

If there wasn't anything more urgent to do, you could always pass the time constructively by killing flies.

Those were the days — remember?

CHILDREN SAFEGUARDED

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — School children will be "safeguarded" against possible sex education by a ban affecting all Transvaal province schools, Education Director D. A.L. Coetzee announced. "Up to now there has officially been no sex education in Transvaal schools. The ban on sex education is therefore nothing new," Coetzee said. If children spontaneously ask about sex in class, the teacher must "use his discretion in accordance with policy." He must never answer the child in front of the class.

Cowboy Shrinking With Prairie

BLUEWATER, N.M. (AP) — The lone prairie keeps shrinking with the concrete ribbons of superhighways and the intrusion of motorized cowboys. Like the vanishing Indian, there is the vanishing cowboy.

Here and there one finds a holdout, a sort of relic that refuses to be tossed to the dump heap, crushed, paved over, killed. He won't die. Not now. Not so long as there is just one more sunset, just one more chow line, just one more horse to be broken.

There never was a horse that couldn't be rode. . . never was a cowboy couldn't be thrown. Such a cowboy is Joe Tietjen. At 38, his whole life has been the range and horses.

"I was 4 years old the first time I was on a trail drive," he says. "I never did do anything much else."

Cowhand Tietjen draws his pay from the Great Western Land and Cattle Co., which raises beef.

Tietjen, however is a cowhand in the legendary fashion: in the saddle all the day, or out breaking broncos, or snoozing in a bedroll at night.

He has this thing about horses — about showing who's boss. He reckons it comes from that time of tragedy in his boyhood when his brother was killed by a horse.

"I guess I subconsciously wanted to kill all horses," he says of his skill at breaking bucking and wild horses.

There was a time, at age 16, "there was a horse all the guys figured I couldn't ride. Because of that, I bought him and figured I could 'spur him out.' He bucked at least 20 times and the more he bucked the scarier I got. In fact, he bucked so hard he got stiff. I finally sold him for a bucking horse."

Out of that, Tietjen learned his cardinal rule about dealing with horses.

"You got to have experience and you've got to be boss," he says.

says. "You have to get fear into him, if he's mean, before he gets fear into you. You get your bluff in first; hoodoo him. Step right in the stirrup and jump on before he gets bugged or he'll wheel and kick you."

Doing this, Joe says, has taught him a lot. About what? "The way humans behave."

Sedalia Men Leave For Armed Services

Three Sedalia men were inducted into military service from Sedalia this month, according to Mrs. Verna Williams, secretary of Pettis County Selective Service board. Leaving Sedalia for Kansas City July 15 were Gary Lee Busker, 23, Robin Hugo Dennis, 20, and Terry Lee Arnold, 20.

all of Sedalia. Following the swearing in ceremony at the Army Main Station, the three men were sent to Fort Leonard Wood for basic training.

The highest lottery number for the July induction was 170.

The induction call for August has not been received, Mrs. Williams said.

Believes America and Britain Will Improve Relations

LONDON — (NEA) — A Conservative government is as naturally attracted to the American way of life as a Labor government is repelled.

British Conservatives see in America the hope of the future while Laborites remain eternally suspicious of Yankee imperialism.

That is why Britain's new Conservative government headed by Prime Minister Edward Heath will back the United States in Southeast Asia.

This is the explanation given by Jeffrey Archer, young Conservative member of parliament, of why the sun has begun to shine once again on Anglo-American relations.

At 30, Archer shares with Winston Churchill, grandson of Sir Winston, the distinction of being the youngest Tory member of the House of Commons.

Archer is also one of the most pro-American of British parliamentarians, having spent two years as a student at the University of California at Berkeley, and having traveled extensively in the United States.

A bronze head of President Kennedy is prominent in his office. American Ambassador Walter Annenberg calls abruptly during an interview, inviting Archer to dinner.

"I know what Ambassador Annenberg wants," says Archer, grinning as he puts down the receiver. "He wants tickets for the Bob Hope-Frank Sinatra charity show which we are putting on at the Royal Festival Hall."

Promoting charity shows is the specialty of the public relations firm Archer heads. Photographs on his wall show Archer with the Queen Mother, Archer with Lord Mountbatten, Archer surrounded by the Beatles, Archer shaking hands with ex-President Lyndon B. Johnson.

In the House of Commons Archer has made defense his specialty and he shares with Heath a belief that a British military presence east of Suez is necessary.

"We've got to back the United States when it defends countries such as South Vietnam, and what better way to do so than by pulling our weight in the Far East?" Archer says.

Archer thinks a combined Commonwealth force from Britain, Australia and Canada could be formed, with the three countries sharing costs.

"Britain will be making a great mistake if she pulls out of Singapore and other countries where her presence is welcome," he says. "Not only will we be letting down the peoples of Malaysia, Singapore, Australia and New Zealand, but we will be throwing away a considerable financial investment."

British investment in the Far East amounts to $2.4 billion while foreign exchange earnings are worth $432 million a year.

Archer thinks that Heath will make a good, if drab, prime minister. "He's never going to be a great television personality, but then neither is President Nixon. Heath's greatest contribution will be in the field of administration. He will run the country superbly."

As a rising Tory politician, Archer is anxious for Britain to get into the European Common Market. "If we don't we shall be reduced in influence and importance to the status of Luxembourg in 30 years' time."

And Britain still has much to offer the United States, he says: "America can still benefit by our experience, which has centuries of history behind it."

Air Force Enthused Over New Parachute

EL CENTRO, Calif. (AP) — The Air Force says it is encouraged by tests of its ballute—a combination parachute and hot-air balloon that would enable a pilot who bails out over enemy territory to stay aloft for a half hour while awaiting air rescue.

A propane-fueled burner heats air forced into the ballute, which is attached to the top of the pilot's parachute. A half-hour in the air at up to 10,000 feet is enough time, the Air Force says, for a rescue plane to locate the pilot and either grab him on a line and reel him into the plane or tow him to friendly territory where he could descend by parachute.

New Drug Treating Youngster

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP) — The condition of 4-year-old Linda Thompson of Fremont, Neb., a cystic fibrosis victim who has heart trouble and has contracted serious infection of both lungs, remains unchanged after 24-hour treatment with an investigative drug at nearby Scott Air Force Base.

Dr. Donald Gilner said disodium carbenicillin was flown from the pediatric unit of the Temple University Medical Center in Philadelphia to help the child in her fight.

Gilner described the drug as related to penicillin, adding, "once a drug is cleared for human use it's identified as investigative."

The girl was flown to Scott from Offutt Air Force Base near Omaha last Wednesday, he said, because it's the nearest base with hospital facilities.

"There's no way to tell how well or how soon she will respond to the drug," he added. "When she was admitted she was critical and her condition remains critical."

Gilner described the drug as "not being used to treat cystic fibrosis. It is but a part of her treatment," he said.

Air Force jets from McGuire Air Force Base in New Jersey and Andrews Air Force Base in Washington, D.C., transported the drug to Scott.

"I was never more proud of the Air Force than when I stopped to think that more than 300 persons and three Air Force bases had a hand in trying to save this girl's life," Gilner said.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Thompson, parents of the girl, have two other children. The father is a retired Naval air crewman.

student reports

Among students receiving degrees from the University of Missouri-Columbia this spring were 13 students from Sedalia.

Sedalia students receiving their degrees were James C. Alexander, Jr., 1016 West Broadway; Rita Sue Barger, 1010 Crescent Drive; Paula Kay Edwards, 1411 West Fourth; William Carlisle Hopkins II, 1610 West 13th; Joseph David Lamy, 509 West Broadway; Melvin Daniel Lane, 1015 South Massachusetts; John Alfred Lloyd, 829 West Broadway; Marcia Diane Miller, 3003 Southwest Blvd.; Rodney A. Robertson, 1815 West 10th; Donna Dee Silverman, 1105 New England Drive; Richard Lewis Wolff, Route 4; Charles K. Wright, 506 East 14th, and Laurel Henderson, 1804 South Park.

Also receiving a degree was Philip Jay Young, Knob Noster.

Four area young people will be part of a 40-voice chorus that will present a concert July 30 in the Fine Arts Recital Hall on the campus of the University of Missouri-Columbia.

The chorus, directed by Thomas L. Mills, professor of voice, will perform Beethoven's "Mass in C Major."

The four are: Sandy Baker, 1101 Ware; Danny Lane, 1015 South Massachusetts; Linda Cooper, Stover and James M. Arnold, Slater.

Military Switch

SALMON, Idaho (AP) — A young Salmon woman liked serving in the Navy so much that she has enlisted for a second hitch—in the Army.

Marlene A. Bowen, 22, served three years as Navy WAVE and has just completed her basic training with the Women's Army Corps at Ft. McClellan, Ala.

Miss Bowen said she wanted to try the Army because she enjoyed serving in the Navy so much.

Woman's illogic?

Not really, said Miss Bowen. Two of her brothers are serving in the Army, and besides, she wanted a little change of scene, she said.

EXPENSIVE EMBASSY
NEW DELHI (AP) — The Indiana embassy in Moscow spends the most money for entertainment among Indian embassies in five major world capitals, the foreign ministry said. The embassy in Moscow spent about $24,000 in 1969 compared to $22,000 in London, $13,600 in Washington and lesser amounts in Paris and Bonn.

Inflation Shortens Season

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Inflation, rising costs, the economic squeeze and the loss of cigarette advertising are combining to make the upcoming television season the shortest ever.

The average series will have only 24 original shows. Some will have as few as 22, while a few lucky series will run as long as 26 weeks before going into reruns.

This means that the season will run out sometime in March, the exact week depending on whether the networks pad the time by dropping in a special or two.

Not only are high costs whittling away the number of shows, but some producers are having to cut corners in other ways, such as fewer sets, fewer location shooting and smaller casts.

Just 10 years ago a half-hour show such as "Richard Diamond" could be brought in for $39,000. Producer Bob Claver said "The Partridge Family" is costing $108,000 an episode. "That's a lot of bread when you think 'Diamond' was done for under $40,000," he said.

Eleven years ago, when "Bonanza" began, it cost $114,000, which was expensive then because it was the first program filmed entirely in color. This season it will cost $215,000 a show.

Hal Holbrook, starring in "The Senator," said budget restrictions are forcing some compromises in casting on the show. "The administrative staff is what keeps a senator going, but we can't cast as many assistants as we'd like to," he said.

Producer Aaron Ruben said Andy Griffith's new show, "Headmaster," is "costing at least a third more than Andy's original show 10 years ago. We have to hold down in some places. We don't show the whole faculty; there's no need to. We don't show all the students; there's no reason for that, either."

The ban on cigarette commercials, ordered by Congress effective Jan. 1, will mean a $226 million loss to the industry and a $150 million loss to the networks alone.

The rising cost of television programming is due to several factors, the most important of which is the cost of labor. Some new equipment and techniques are being introduced, but for the most part films—including television shows—are still being made the way they were 30 years ago.

Another reason is that the audience today demands a more sophisticated show and the extras cost money.

Aaron Spelling, who is producing three series and 10 movies for ABC, said, "We used to do 39 shows a year. Then 33. This year everybody's cut back to 24. That's false economy. It's saving money for the sponsors and the networks, but it's costing the actors and writers. That's two less scripts on every series. What happens a few years from now when it's cut back to 22 or 20?"

Cynthia Lowry is on vacation.

China Raids Borders

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nationalist China has staged many more raids across the Taiwan Straits in recent times than Red China despite growing U.S. concern the harassing action could escalate.

While the top U.S. diplomat in Taiwan dismissed the forays as pinprick raids in cockleshell boats, Ambassador Walter P. McCaughy acknowledged in Senate testimony that "even these small ones really should be avoided."

The McCaughy account of raids back and forth across the Taiwan Straits over the past five years was heavily censored before the publication Monday of testimony on U.S. commitments to Nationalist China.

McCaughy said the government of Chiang Kai-shek has been informed the United States will not be bound by a mutual defense treaty to aid the Nationalists against attack prompted by "offensive action against the mainland to which we had not agreed."

He said the actions involved included maritime raids, reconnaissance flights and propaganda shelling.

The ambassador said he did not think the forays were on a scale that would provoke "any dangerous reaction from the Chinese Communists."

"But we agree that in the present situation, it would be better if they did not take place."

China Painting Returns

Sedalia Susans

Three members of the Sedalia Susans china painting club put the finishing touches on some of their work. The recently organized club plans a formal showing this fall. Left, Mrs. R. W. Bouknecht is painting a plate and Mrs. Mary Maddox, center, shows a lamp shade to Mrs. Ralph Steinkuhler, right, as Mrs. Maddox dusts excess powder from the shade. (Democrat-Capital Photo)

By MARY PROCTOR
Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

The art of china painting, reminiscent of an earlier day when young ladies at the turn of the century whiled away idle hours in this delicate task — as popular as water skiing is to their granddaughters — has been revived in Sedalia.

The group of 13, has named itself the Sedalia Susan's China Painters Guild and organized officially May 16, 1970, meeting at 317 East Sixth. They have painted their own club pins — brooches embossed with blacked susans — and received a charter as official members of the Missouri Association of China Painters, joining 24 clubs in the state.

China painting was revived in Sedalia in 1966 when the Pettis

County extension clubs brought Mrs. Betty Bane, Ferguson, here to give a series of six two-hour sessions.

Mrs. Mary Maddox and Miss Gwendolyn Tuck, charter members of the Susans, exhibited some of their work at Boonslick Regional Library during the last two annual arts and crafts shows.

Attending the Sixth International exhibit of handpainted china July 7 to 12 in Oklahoma City, Okla., were Mrs. Ralph Steinkuhler, Miss Hazel Barnett, Mrs. Mary Maddox, Mrs. O. H. Harbit and Mrs. Gladys Davis.

Mrs. Charles E. West, who with her husband ran a book store held the first known china painting lessons in Sedalia in a room behind the store. Her art was treasured by her friends, and several collections of her work, and that of some of her students are carefully kept.

Mrs. Steinkuhler is president of the club, which meets at 9 a.m. on the second Saturday of each month; Mrs. R. W. Bouknecht, first vice president; Mrs. Maddox, second vice president; Miss Barnett, recording secretary; Mrs. H. R. Wallace, Jr., corresponding secretary; Mrs. G. A. Boyd, treasurer; Miss Gwendolyn Tuck, historian; Mrs. Harbit, parliamentarian; and Mrs. James Rau, auditor, all of Sedalia.

Additional charter members are Mrs. E. G. Anderson, Windsor; Mrs. George Davis, Green Ridge; and Mrs. Hugo Kappelman and Mrs. Scott Higgins, both of LaMonte.

Professional Bullfighter Is Teenager

LISBON (AP) — When Ana Maria was 14 years old, she went one hot, windless summer Sunday to attend the ancient spectacle of the running of the bulls through the narrow streets to the ring at Azambuja, her remote hometown north of Lisbon.

She was then an apprentice in the local cannery where the tomatoes grown in the surrounding plains are reduced to paste, tinned and shipped to remote corners of the world which she only knew about from labels stuck on the cardboard boxes.

Her great loves in life, however, were the huge black bulls which she used to see as she rode her old bicycle along mud-caked, furrowed tracks on her way to and from work everyday.

"I loved the way they chewed the grass looking so peaceful and harmless," Ana Maria Lourenco, a slim attractive, brunette wistfully recalled.

So when her father, a worker in the same factory, invited her on that particular Sunday to accompany him to the town and enjoy the running of the bulls before a corrida, she was delighted.

The pink tinted balconies overlooking the dusty cobbled streets were decorated with an array of colorful embroidered bed covers and along the sidewalks, the townsfolk, dressed in their Sunday best, were waiting impatiently behind an improvised, rickety, wooden palisade for the arrival of the bulls.

When they came running past, one by one, local youngsters, many of whom were aspiring to be matadors, jumped over the palisade to defy the ferocious black beasts. Many of the boys were caught by the sharp horns of the charging animals. Others panicked at the last moment and quickly scampered up the nearest tree clinging tightly to each other.

"They looked like a bunch of grapes," Ana Maria said with a faint smile. "But, when the last snorting bull was running up mainstreet, I suddenly found myself in front of it, waving a piece of red cloth I had grabbed from someone else's hands."

Her ability in tackling the 1,200 pound bull was impressive and a local trainer of matadors, amazed at her skill, immediately invited her to join his school.

Now, four years later, Ana Maria at 18, has become the first professional woman bullfighter in Portugal.

"When she pleaded with me to be allowed to join the bullfighting school I hesitated. What father likes to see a daughter risking her life every Sunday. But, I am proud of her courage and so finally I allowed her to go," her father says fondly.

"If the word of a woman had any value, she wouldn't have gone. But the girl was determined and her father can never say no to her," her mother complained.

Summer Practice

These enthusiastic freshman cheerleaders are already getting set for the upcoming football and basketball seasons. Having just returned from cheerleading camp, the girls are already putting to practice what they've

For Women

Wednesday Winners

A change-of-pace dish that is inexpensive and quick to do takes a package of hot roll mix, some canned deviled ham and seasonings. It is a deviled whirley loaf.

Serve with a canned or packaged gravy mix, your favorite potatoes and a salad.

DEVILED WHIRLEY LOAF

1 package hot roll mix (13 3/4 oz.)
2 (4 1/2-oz. each) cans deviled ham
1/4 cup chopped parsley
1 tablespoon dried minced onion

1/4 cup chopped green peppers
1/4 teaspoon basil
1 tablespoon barbecue sauce.
Prepare hot roll mix according to package directions. Divide dough in half. Prepare filling by combining remaining ingredients. Roll the dough into a rectangle 16 x 8 inches. Spread with filling. Roll up dough jelly-roll fashion and cut in 1/2-inch slices. Place in a greased 8-inch round cake pan. Bake at 400 degrees for 30-35 minutes. (Remaining roll mix can be made into hot rolls.) (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Cheerleaders Begin Practice For Fall

The Smith-Cotton freshman cheerleaders are already looking forward to the fall football season with enthusiasm. They recently attended a cheerleading camp at Northeast Missouri State College, Kirksville.

The girls, Jamie Schumaker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Salty Schumaker, 1915 West Third; Janice Herrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Herrick, 1412 South Moniteau; Diane Cordry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cordry, 2401 West Second; Jamie Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Davis, Route 3; and Christy Van Dyne, daughter of Mrs. Marge Van daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Patterson and Jan Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loy Richards, will perform at the SFCC basketball games. The girls won two blue ribbons, a red, white and green ribbon.

Ginger Snaps

By Ginger Moore

Lawn parties, however innocent they may sound, could well be the beginning of great political movements. At just such a party recently, a group of some twenty adults enthusiastically and sometimes heatedly discussed a variety of subjects ranging from morality of war to drug usage.

It was exciting and enjoyable to watch everyone enthusiastically making their points and occasionally it resembled a large family gathering with cries of "it's my turn" and "you didn't let me finish."

I couldn't help but wonder later that if everyone took as vital an interest in our nation's policies and problems perhaps we could all become part of the solution to today's problems rather than part of the problem. With the range of political views from the right wing conservatives to the left wing liberals, I doubted that we could ever agree on anything. However, the key to the solution, as all agreed, was compromise and cooperation.

Our group ranged in age from 18 to 40 and yet no one view was consistently shared by any age group. Many great governments have been formed around a table during a social event, why not encourage discussions of current topics?

Many families insist on a family discussion of current events at the dinner table. Why don't you encourage your child's interest in politics and government by discussing some of the current activities of the state or local government and give the theory taught in schools some real meaning to them

Garden Club News

Bunceton Garden Club toured the gardens of members Thursday. Gardens visited were, Mrs. Riley Edwards, Mrs. Earl Scott, Mrs. Herbert Warmbrodt, Mrs. Farris Floyd, Mrs. W. F. Fancier, Mrs. Cecil Wilson, Mrs. Edgar Carpenter, Mrs. F. E. Filler and Mrs. Joe Serck.

A covered dish luncheon was served at the home of Mrs. Edwards and a guest, Mrs. Ralph Combs, was introduced.

President, Mrs. Edwards, presided at the business meeting and it was decided to donate money to the Red Cross for ditty bags. Mrs. Hubert Shroust explained requirements for entries in the Prairie Home Fair and she also gave a lesson on wild flowers.

Mrs. Benton Smith and Mrs. Cecil Wilson were appointed as delegates to the district convention to be held at Osage Beach.

Easter may fall any time within a 35-day period running from March 22 to April 25.

Nixon Gives Image Of True Campaigner

WASHINGTON (AP) — "I am a political man," President Nixon told his latest news conference—and he intends to prove it over the next 100 days.

That's about the time left before the November elections. Of recent date, Nixon has been paying considerable attention to the voting hinterland—the Middle America where, according to the Nixon battle plan for the 1970 elections, the "silent majority" resides.

Just Tuesday, Nixon announced that in addition to visiting Fargo, N.D., for a conference with five governors, he will be going on to Salt Lake City for a meeting with the leaders of the Mormon church and, for good measure, will be conferring with anticrime specialists in Denver as he makes his way to and from the Western White House at San Clemente, Calif.

It all began last month when Nixon went to St. Louis to talk to the U.S. Jaycees.

His audience gave him perhaps the biggest reception he had since becoming President, but more important, street crowds in that normally Democratic city were large and enthusiastic.

Nixon followed the St. Louis triumph with an announcement that the best way to help Republican candidates this year was to make "as good a record as possible in Washington."

The chief executive said then he had no plans for any partisan speeches during the campaign—that attention to foreign policy crises was paramount.

However, Nixon earlier this month went to Louisville, Ky., to meet with governors of 12 Appalachian states—and he greeted by enthusiasts along his route from the airport. He followed the Kentucky visit with a jaunt across the Ohio River to Cincinnati for the all star baseball game.

Next will be Fargo, N.D., to confer with governors of that state, South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa and Nebraska.

Nixon plans to stay in California until Aug. 3, when he will start back to Washington via Denver.

People In The News

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Sammy Cahn, whose hit songs include "Love is Lovelier the Second Time Around," says he plans to test his lyrics by marrying Tita Curtis Aug. 2.

"I'll have to write a new song about this," Cahn 56, told newsmen Tuesday in announcing the wedding. But first I want to figure out if the lyrics about the second time around thing really work."

He and Miss Curtis, 32, are both once divorced.

OAK BLUFFS, Mass. (AP) — Artist Thomas Hart Benton of Kansas City has left Martha's Vineyard Hospital where he had been treated since suffering a heart attack at his Gay Head summer home on July 5.

It was the second attack for the 81-year-old artist. The first occurred in 1966.

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Bob Short kept everyone guessing until the last possible moment, then decided not to run for governor of Minnesota.

Short, Minneapolis businessman and owner of the Washington Senators baseball club, was in the office of the secretary of state when the 5 p.m. deadline expired Tuesday, but did not file his candidacy for the Democratic-Farmer-Labor nomination.

Short said he decided not to run because he could not visualize getting a big enough majority to lead the state effectively.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When actress Patty Duke was married for the second time June 24 she said, "We have no particular plans but to stay together forever." Her new husband, Michael Tell, chimed in, "For eternity."

Miss Duke, 23, announced through a spokesman Tuesday that she's divorcing Tell, 25, a Las Vegas promoter of rock music concerts.

The brunette actress won an Academy Award in 1962 for her portrayal of the young Helen Keller in the film "The Miracle Worker" and an Emmy last month for a television performance in "My Sweet Charlie."

Miss Duke was divorced March 3 from her first husband, television director Harry Falk, after a four-year marriage. It was Tell's first marriage.

Farm Roundup

Suggests Federal Agency To Improve Workers' Lot

WASHINGTON (AP) — A rural housing specialist says a new federal agency should be created with authority to correct what he calls some of "the myths and prejudices" that have kept hired farm workers living in squalor.

Clay L. Cochran, executive director of the Rural Housing Alliance, told a Senate subcommittee on migratory labor Tuesday that the proposed new agency should have broad authority, including the power to:

—Survey the need for farm labor housing.

—Provide the entire cost of construction, plus part of the maintenance expense when necessary.

—Build year-round housing in most areas.

—Develop and manage farm labor housing projects when no public or private group will undertake the job.

—Set rentals at levels farm workers can afford.

Cochran said in his prepared testimony that the proposed agency also should have the authority to sell housing units to workers, train project managers and enforce a strict national farm labor housing code.

"These are some of the measures, then, that must be taken if hired farm workers are to be decently housed this side of heaven," Cochran told the panel headed by Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn.

"The persons that need the help are nearly powerless," Cochran said. "Many of us hope that the farm workers themselves, currently engaged in the process of awakening to their own potential strength, will soon be able to exercise self-determination."

But until this happens, Cochran said, the problems of hired farm workers "rests on the conscience of the total community and makes the moral pretense of this country ugly and hypocritical."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department published Tuesday a new federal regulation lowering the age limit for cattle brucellosis control.

Beef cattle were lowered from 30 to 24 months of age, and from 30 to 20 months for dairy animals shipped interstate or for export.

"Cattle officially vaccinated against brucellosis must be negative to the blood test when over the amended age limits. Cattle reacting to a brucellosis test must be branded and sent to slaughter," the announcement said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin has named a 15-member forest advisory committee.

Officials said the committee will advise the Agriculture Department on matters relating to the protection, management and development of the nation's 368 million acres of privately owned forest lands and resources.

"The committee will study recently reported findings and recommendations of the President's Cabinet Committee on Economic Policy and the Task Force on Softwood Lumber and Plywood," the department announcement said.

Assistant Secretary of Agriculture T. K. Cowden will be permanent chairman of the panel.

Those named to the committee included John Richard Sturgis, Arkadelphia, Ark.; and Leo A. Drey, St. Louis, Mo.

Protesting Controller Suspended

ST. LOUIS (AP) — An air traffic controller who took part in a protest over work conditions earlier this year has been suspended, Edmond A. Raymond, tower chief at St. Louis Lambert Airport, said Tuesday night.

"I would assume there will be more," Raymond said when asked if any others of the air controllers who took part in the work slowdown might face suspension.

The identity of the controller, suspended for 10 days, was not revealed because, as Raymond put it: "It's a personal thing at this time."

Eighteen controllers, about half the airport's total, were advised in June they would be suspended. They have been turning in reports explaining their absences from the job during the national work protest. Many have submitted doctors reports attesting to illness connected with the pressures of the job.

Adela Rogers St. Johns—a Feminine Pinnacle of Journalistic Strength

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — "The opposite of love is not hate. It's indifference."
 "I learned that there is little difference in husbands. You might as well keep the first."
 "Women once had great power for good. Then they decided they wanted to be like men."
 Listen to Adela Rogers St. Johns at 75, biting off clipped, crisp maxims on living, and you know the author and former newspaperwoman still spells life in boldface type.

Peering through sky-blue eyes, Adela has watched the woes and wonders of the world for more than half a century from a unique vantage point—that of woman reporter. Or, as she was billed long ago, "The World's Greatest Girl Reporter."

"The newspaper trucks did say 'girl reporter' when I was a grandmother," she recalls. She was the prototype of the breed. Smart, pretty and spunky with a nose for news. Starting her career at 18, she went on to cover some of the century's biggest news stories.

From the death of Rudolph Valentino to the Lindbergh kidnapping trial; from the assassination of Huey Long to the romance of Edward VIII and Wallis Simpson—Adela was on the scene.

"I don't think there's anything like it," she says of her journalistic career. "I was always where the action was."
 The daughter of a famed criminal attorney, Earl Rogers, Adela was hired by William Randolph Hearst for the old Los Angeles Herald.

"I was one of the first women reporters," Adela wrote in her

Seeing And Telling

Adela Rogers St. Johns has covered some of the century's biggest news stories, during a lifetime which has included a career as one of the first women reporters. Now her writing has overflowed into books, her opinions into television talk shows and lecture tours. At 75, the years of joy and sorrow show in her face and her eyes still shine with love of life. (AP) autobiography, "maybe as an all around police beat, sports, sin and society reporter the first in the world."

She moved on to Hearst's San Francisco Examiner and later to International News Service with brief intermissions when she worked as a Hollywood fan magazine "sob sister," wrote screenplays and turned out short stories to support her growing family.

She had two marriages and five children. Then, as a grandmother, she decided to stop chasing the big story and write books. So far, she's turned out "Final Verdict," the story of her father's criminal law career; "Tell No Man," a novel based on her own spiritual awakening; and the recent autobiography, "The Honeycomb," which tells some of the lessons she's learned in 75 years of living.

But there's more. It comes these days in conversation—long, breathless sentences filled with opinions on everything.

Adela's verbal views—pungent and witty with the ring of truth—lately have made her the rage of television talk shows and the ladies club lecture circuit.

Just returned from one of those lecture tours, Adela was bustling about her seaside penthouse apartment one recent afternoon—bursting with opinions.

She'd been to Washington to receive the Medal of Freedom from President Nixon—the country's highest civilian honor—presented for her "exceptional ability to reveal the human story behind the news."

Ready to talk, she settled on her sofa—a small, brown-haired woman in slacks. Her face is lined with years of joy and sorrow, and its animated expressions are exclamations points for her thoughts. Her hands spin circles in the air as she makes a point, then come to rest on top of her head.

"Don't you want to see my medal?" she exclaims. And that's the takeoff point for a nonstop flight into the land of "Adelisms," her observations on things in general.

—On the failure of her two marriages: "I feel so sorry sometimes when I think of my husbands that I could weep. I didn't see it in time. I couldn't have had children without a husband, and a husband was all I was willing to give up."

—On women's equality: "Why would I want to be equal with a man? I think women have come down to their equality. They used to be superior. Now they're becoming as coarse and vulgar as men."

—On the generation gap: "Mothers don't read to their children anymore. So they don't have a common vocabulary. I have yet to find a child who wouldn't rather be read to than watch TV."

—On hippies: "They seem very pleasant. When I walk out on the beach, they always have a smile for me. I'm on the side of the young people. When you're as old as I am, you've let go of your own ambitions, and you can listen. It's this middle-aged generation I don't understand much."

—On the narcotics problem: "We fought against child labor in the '20s. But I'd rather have child labor than the present drug addiction. We liberated their bodies and didn't take care of their minds."

—On religion: "Einstein said it. In Christianity, as Jesus originally taught it, are the solutions to all the problems of the world....My next novel will have a religum's framework. I don't think there's any other final answer, and neither do today's kids."

An Honored Life

Adela Rogers St. Johns recently received the Medal of Freedom which she displays here. The award, presented to her by President Nixon, was for her "exceptional ability to reveal the human story behind the news." The 75-year-old author and former newspaperwoman sums up her career in a crisply up-to-date phrase: "I was always where the action was." (AP)

Battling the Odds

Socialites in many parts of Texas had their problems Tuesday with low temperatures and an unmindful dog or two. Childress, Tex., recorded a low 57 degrees for July 21 and even in Dallas, where three-year-old Stacey

Lyon was having her troubles, it was 66 degrees early in the morning. Temperatures reached record lows in the Sedalia area, too. (UPI)

DEAD RINGER

BULAWAYO, Rhodesia (AP) — Australian clergyman Frederic Thomas Wright, 44, was held for five hours here by police who thought he was Great Train Robber Ronald Biggs. Wright, 6 ft. 1 in., is the same height as Biggs and has other similar characteristics, even to a scar on the left wrist.

"I thought at first it was a joke but when the questions started I realized the whole thing was serious," Wright said. "I showed the police my passport but they said it could be a forgery. They asked me what seemed like thousands of questions which I answered to the best of my ability."

Eventually a fingerprint check cleared the clergyman, who comes from Palmwoods, Queensland. Police gave him his fingerprint chart as a souvenir and said he was a "dead ringer" for the train robber.

Suitcase Atom Bomb Is Definite Possibility

WASHINGTON (AP) — A frightening subplot has been added to the drama of nuclear warfare—the prospect of a suitcase atomic bomb.

Such a weapon is plausible, says a congressional study group and the prospect is important in discussing the "nuclear blackmail" argument used by the Nixon administration to justify the Safeguard antiballistic missile system.

Suitcase bombs have been discussed briefly in public by members of the Senate and House Armed Services committees. But the study group, which supports arms reductions, now says suitcase warfare is made possible by development of compact, lightweight, low-yield weapons.

"For example, a package the size of a portable color television set could conceal a weapon of Hiroshima power," the group says. "It could be carried by one person. Introduction of a megaton weapon into a U.S. city involves a somewhat larger package size, no larger than a hi-fi console and weight of half a ton."

The weapon, the panel suggests, could be taken from a submarine off the Oregon shore and placed on a river raft, transported via automobile to a Chicago hotel room or dumped into a trash barrel in front of the Capitol in Washington.

The study group said there would be drawbacks to such an operation. Enemy agents would need a high degree of security, communication and timing to carry out their plan.

But, the report says, "If a nation like Red China is reckoned such a risk that it would resort to nuclear blackmail by means of a ballistic-missile strike at a few U.S. cities, then presumably it would not be out of line to take seriously a covert attack with planted nuclear weapons."

The suitcase-bomb study is a compilation of research papers distributed to congressmen by the military spending committee of a group known as Members of Congress for Peace Through Law. The committee is led by Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., and includes Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., a critic of Pentagon spending.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, seeking to justify the ABM system for defense of cities, has told Congress: "If the Chinese threat came into being as early as 1973, there would be a gap of several years—if Safeguard is not started immediately—during which the Chinese could threaten nuclear blackmail against us."

The congressional study group concedes there may be the possibility Red China might develop a few intercontinental ballistic missiles and aim them at American cities.

But such a possibility is little justification for Safeguard for several reasons, including the option of the suitcase weapon, the group says.

Seal Has Close Call

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A shaken motorist called police in St. Louis late Tuesday night and reported he had just missed hitting a seal.

The location he gave was in Forest Park — two or three blocks from the seal pit at the city's famous zoo. Police and an animal recovery crew from the humane society cordoned off the area and soon recaptured "Skippy," a recently acquired pup.
